LEADS ALL OTHERS
Daily AVERAGE CIRCULATION IN APRIL 334,350
306,904 Sunday AVERAGE CIRCULATION IN APRIL

HEARST'S
BOSTON AMERICAN
THE TWENTIETH CENTURY NEWSPAPER

WEATHER FORECAST. Fair, Warmer.

NIGHT EDITION

VOL. 3—No. 63. 10 PAGES. BOSTON, TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1906.
Copyright, 1906, by the New England Newspaper Publishing Company.
10 PAGES. PRICE ONE CENT.

AMAZING REVELATIONS BY SLAIN GIRL'S FATHER

DECIDES MRS. CHASE A SUICIDE

Judge Berry of Lynn Rules That Puzzling Death Was Self-Inflicted.

That the death of Mrs. Jennie P. Chase of Swampscott was due to suicide is the finding of Judge John W. Berry of the Lynn Court, in his report filed to-day with the District Attorney.

By this finding official inquiry into the facts surrounding the mysterious death of the wealthy woman, the wife of Dr. Horace Chase, who is even now engaged in a legal battle for the fortune she left, is ended. Judge Berry's report closes the case.

Mrs. Jennie Chase was found dead in the kitchen of her home on September 13, 1905, by her husband. Several of her pets were also dead. The room was filled with escaping gas. Official investigation revealed such peculiar facts that District Attorney Peters and Judge Berry decided an inquest was necessary.

Dragged on for Months.

The inquest dragged over several months. Many witnesses were heard. One of the principals, Chief Samuel Harris of Swampscott, died just after he had given his testimony.

In his reply Judge Berry says:

"I find that death was caused by inhaling illuminating gas and the taking by her of certain drugs to induce sleep may have contributed to death.

"The testimony of Professor Whitney of Harvard College showed that there was not enough arsenic found in the organs to cause death. Professor Whitney says: 'The amount that was found would be probably about a fortieth of an ordinary medicinal dose in about a hundredth of the smallest toxic or fatal dose, so that the amount that was found was not a fatal quantity at all.'

"If any arsenic was in other parts or other organs of the body which Professor Whitney did not have, he did not state, as he had no personal knowledge of the matter.

Medical Examiner Coincided.

"Dr. Pinkham, the medical examiner, testified that she came to her death by gas poisoning and quite possibly chloral hydrate contributed to said death.

"No evidence was offered to show that the note with Jennie P. Chase's name signed to it was not genuine and written and signed by her.

"Various other witnesses testified as to certain household disagreements and the habits and customs of Mrs. Chase, which are not important for me to state in this finding.

"I find therefore that Mrs. Jennie P. Chase came to her death on the 13th of September, 1905, by her own act, and that said death was one of suicide."

Property to Adopted Son.

In her will Mrs. Chase left her property to her adopted son, DeForrest Chase, son of her second husband, with the understanding that it should revert to Dr. Chase on the son's death. DeForrest Chase died a few months after his adopted mother's suicide.

EDWARD PAGE TUCKER BELIEVED INNOCENT

FIVE MISSING, THIRTY HURT IN EXPLOSION

DEFECTIVE BOILER PIPE WRECKS GLUCOSE PLANT—OIL TRUST BUILDING MENACED.

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, May 22—Thirty people were injured and five are unaccounted for as a result of an explosion in the refinery of the New York Glucose Company, house of the New York Glucose Company, plant at Shadyside, N. J., directly opposite One Hundredth street, Manhattan, to-day. The explosion occurred in a feed steam pipe to one of the twenty boilers in the building. Its force was so great as to loosen the roof timbers, the roof caving in with a crash.

There were not many people in the building at the time, most of the 600 employes being at work in the neighboring structures of the works. Flying bricks and splinters of timber struck a number of employes on the outside of the building, but these were removed quickly to the North Hudson Hospital at Union, N. J.

The feed house caught fire immediately. A brisk wind blew flying sparks and burning pieces of refinery to the Standard Oil Company's plant, three-quarters of a mile away.

To safeguard the other buildings, and also to prevent the flames spreading to the plant of the Standard Oil Company, a call for help was sent to New York to have a couple of engines sent across the Fort Lee ferry.

PRIEST DENIED COMMUNION TO TERRANOVA GIRL

NEW YORK, May 22—Mrs. Maggie Fernlo, sister of the husband of Josephine Terranova, the Italian girl on trial for murdering her aunt and uncle, threw new sidelights to-day on the unhappy life of the young defendant. It was the intention of the defense this morning to call Josephine to the stand to-day, and the courtroom was crowded with women eager to hear the dark details of her life.

Mrs. Fernlo said that after her brother became engaged to Josephine she went to the Ricglios, and in the presence of the girl asked the uncle if she could take Josephine to confession. Old Riggio would not give his consent and said to Josephine:

"Don't you confess. The priest will teach you bad things."

"Come here, Josephine, and I'll confess you."

Mrs. Fernlo said that she took Josephine to the church, however, and the old uncle followed them in and bid near the church. The witness said that the priest after talking to Josephine would not give her communion.

"What did the priest say?" asked the counsel for the girl.

"He said that he would not give her the communion," said Mrs. Fernlo, because she had no religion and didn't know who God was."

Mrs. Fernlo said she called on Josephine in her flat after her husband had left her because of what he had learned. The girl was hysterically weeping and after rebuking with her for some time she left her.

Rev. William Copley Winslow Details Conversation With Aged Father of Mabel Page, in Which He Expressed Belief in Tucker's Innocence.

The Rev. William Copley Winslow, at his home, No. 525 Beacon street, to-day gave the BOSTON AMERICAN the details of a conversation that he had with Edward Page, the father of the girl for whose murder Charles Louis Tucker faces death in the electric chair, in which he shows that the aged man went to his grave believing that the condemned boy is guiltless of the crime.

This conversation between the minister and the father of the dead girl gave the Rev. Mr. Winslow the impression, he asserts, that there had been dissensions in the Page family previous to the murder.

Here is the Rev. Mr. Winslow's story of the conversation with the father of Mabel Page:

"Edward Page, who was my old friend, admitted to me that the tragic death of his daughter was an overpowering mystery.

"He was as much astonished as the rest of us at the verdict of guilty, for he had expected an acquittal.

"I had a long talk with my friend, Edward Page, in November, 1904, and many interesting things came to light, some of them being in the nature of privileged statements, which I can under no circumstances repeat. To make sure, I have consulted with eminent church authorities upon the point, and they are most emphatic that I have no right to make public those matters told me in private conversation by Mr. Page.

"As a result of several meetings I had planned to call upon my friend, Edward Page, in Weston on April 1, 1904, but the death of his daughter the day before changed my plans and I waited.

MET BY AMY ROBERTS.

"Returning from a long stay in Barnstable that Summer I went out him in a carriage, when he chided me, saying: 'Mr. Winslow, you haven't made that call upon me yet.' I responded:

"'My dear friend, trouble has laid such a heavy hand upon you since that I feared a visit might be almost an intrusion.'

"'To the contrary, replied Mr. Page, I desire to see you very much. So late in November I went out to Weston, called upon him and spent two hours.

"It was a dark, glowering weather. Amy Roberts met me at the door, peering out first and then bidding me welcome as an old friend of Mr. Page. Soon after Amy left the house and Mr. Page and I were alone. I purposely talked upon other subjects for a time. Sitting at the fireplace Mr. Page suddenly broke out, as though forced to something that required an extraordinary effort:

"'Ah, Dr. Winslow, I have indeed been through a terrible experience.'

"'It must indeed have been harrowing, I returned.'

"Then we went through the details, the arrest and arraignment of Tucker and many of the surrounding circumstances, and he talked earnestly throughout. I asked some pointed questions:

"'Mr. Page, since you say you always kept the doors lock or guarded, why, upon your return, did you not make a search for your daughter or someone who might be in care of the house?'

The Note on the Table.

"He replied: 'O, I don't know; I supposed somebody was within call and it was all right.'

"'Why did you not notice the bit of paper lying upon the table in all the time you walked about the room? I pointed out that three-quarters of an hour must have elapsed, with the paper on the table in his plain sight. I thought it made him uneasy to press the question.

"'After all, Mr. Page, could it have been suicide?' I had in mind the possibility that the stab wound in the back might have been made after the actual death, to destroy any talk of suicide.

"Mr. Page's whole attitude changed. He turned like a flash and there was fire in his eye which he replied:

"'No, sir. That fool of a doctor alluded to suicide as a first theory, but it was not so. Not in this family.' Continuing, in a more subdued tone Mr. Page said:

"'People ask me by word of mouth and by letter continually if I think they have got the right man. I answer that it is not for me to decide. The jury will settle that point for all of us. In all likelihood the man will be acquitted.'

WAS MUCH DEJECTED.

"After a little more talk I crossed over and laid my hand upon his shoulder. He was very much dejected in voice and manner.

"'Now, my friend,' I added as impressively as possible, 'there is something further troubling you.'

"He hesitated a while and asked if he could say something not to be repeated. I told him what he then said would be privileged conversation with a churchman. His statements, I gave say, had no direct bearing upon the mystery. How far they might bear indirectly I cannot say, because I have committed them to no one, and, as I said before, I have even taken the advice of high churchmen whom are very emphatic in agreeing with me that they must remain privileged statements forever.

"'If I am any judge of human nature, then, judging from other statements, Mr. Page was one of those most surprised at the verdict of guilty.

"'I talked with Amy Roberts when I left the house. She was quite wrought up, she said. 'They even suspect poor Mr. Page, and they suspect me.'

"'Surely, Amy, you do not mean that they suspect you.'

"'I think they do, some of them, and me who loved that poor girl with all my heart as everybody did who knew Mabel Page.'

STOLE THE STICKPIN.

Any told me, then, that the murderer did steal something from the house, but said the officials had asked her not to say what. She meant the stickpin.

Following this and the statement of Medical Examiner Harris that the stick-

Continued on Page 3, Column 5.

116,000 HANDS REACH UP TO GOV. GUILD IN AN APPEAL FOR MERCY TO CHARLES L. TUCKER

Legislative Committee to Summon Witnesses Who

HEARD $15,000 BRIBE TALK

Summonses have been issued by the Committee on Rules which is probing the Legislative bribery charges for two men who, it is alleged, heard John J. Sullivan, known as "Sport" Sullivan, declare that the killing of the bucket-shop bill cost "us" $15,000.

These witnesses who are to be interrogated about the report are Simon Bilofski, of the Paddock building, on Tremont street, and L. Jakobovitz, of No. 28 School street.

Sullivan, it is alleged, told Bilofski about the cost of killing the bill, and Jakobovitz, it is said, overheard the remark. These men will be required by the Committee on Rules to tell in full the alleged conversation.

Sullivan at State House.

Sullivan had the reputation of having run a bucket shop. It is a well-known fact that on the day the anti-bucket shop bill was killed in the House that Sullivan was seen at the State House in conversation with various members.

The exact language that it is alleged the "Sport" used to Bilofski was:

"It cost us $15,000 to kill the bill."

Just whom he meant by "us" has not been made public, but it is presumed that if he did use that expression, he referred to the bucket shop men.

The first two witnesses called before the committee to-day were Representatives George H. Jackson of Lynn and Charles C. Johnson of Natick. They were each in the room five minutes. They wouldn't talk when they came out.

Call Raymond Again.

George J. Raymond, who was called before the Committee on Rules, and who refuses to answer any questions because he was not allowed to have his attorney and stenographer present, is to be called before the committee again.

A summons will be served upon Mr. Raymond to-day, probably, and he will be obliged to acknowledge service. When before the committee on Saturday Mr. Raymond said that he did not consider that the service of the summons upon him was legal because it had not been given him personally, but left at his store. A new summons has been made out.

Must Show His Hand.

Mr. Raymond has said that he could give the committee valuable information if he felt like doing so, but told the committee Saturday that he hesitated to tell all he knows at this time because he did not have complete confidence in the personnel of the committee.

One of the Rules Committee made the following statement relative to the Raymond refusal to testify:

"He is not going to be allowed to get away with his bluff. He will be asked to come before the committee again and there will be no possible loophole for him to technically crawl out through. Then, if he does not testify, something else will happen to Mr. Raymond."

It was a letter written on May 17 to Representative Barnes of Weymouth by Mr. Raymond, in which he made a number of suggestions as to how the committee might accomplish something that caused them to call on him for further information.

"TURN ON LIGHT," DEMANDS STATE PRESS

What Newspapers Say:

Secret Investigations Do Not Satisfy People.

THE Massachusetts House of Representatives is investigating itself, and behind closed doors. Why should not the people of the State know what is going on in the secret chamber? Is it the fear that the charges of bribery are to be sustained that deters the committee on rules from allowing newspaper men to be present.

There is only one method of investigation that meets with the approbation of the people, and that is the open and above-board method which gives the citizens of the State an opportunity to know just what is going on.

Nobody wants to believe that the Legislature is rotten to the core, and a report that no bribes have been accepted will be received with great satisfaction if it is known positively that the investigating committee has raked and scraped the very bottom of the pit of suspicion. It is absolutely impossible to get at a complete investigation without publicity, for publicity is as sure as the rising sun to bring forth evidence from unsought and unthought-of quarters.

Every Representative district in the State should instruct its Representatives to go before the House and protest against the method of investigation now being pursued. It is a hundred to one that the report will not be satisfactory to the people under present conditions.

No doubt there are "black sheep in every Legislature," but the fear of letting it be known broadcast should not for one instant deter the people of Massachusetts from insisting that their names be brought forth and published before the world.—Lynn Evening News.

Assumptions Rules Committee Invites.

THE legislative committee on rules on second thought decided that they would not prosecute for contempt those newspapers that attempted to secure a report of the evidence of bribery submitted to the House investigators, and gave the representatives of the press permission to publish all they could get by interrogating members of the Legislature. But, if there be occasion for an investigation, why not have one that is competent to stand open doors and the gaze of the public? Or is it to be assumed that the committee on rules and the managers of the Legislature whom they represent are fearful lest a Hughes might appear and break away with their leading strings and be more difficult to restrain with open doors?—Haverhill Gazette.

Tends to Create Disrespect.

THE House has embarked upon its star chamber session in regard to the alleged bribery in connection with the bucket-shop bill. We are told that this method can be made effective in getting at the root of the matter, and it remains for the inquiry to vindicate itself—but it is an obvious mistake to sit behind closed doors. Above all else corruption dreads publicity. The way to drive the facts of such an inquiry into the public mind is to allow full reports to be made while the hearings are in progress. The very fact of secret sessions of the committee, whereat witnesses are warned not to make public any of the proceedings, tends to create disrespect and not respect for the Legislature.—Springfield Republican.

Nothing Can Be Gained by Hiding.

Condemnation of the secret hearing on the alleged bribery charges at the State House is universal all over the State. If there is anything "rotten in Denmark" the public have a right to know it. If there is nothing but wind, proceeding from careless and foolish remarks on the part of some Representative, the public has a right to know what these remarks were. Nothing is gained by hiding either innocence, guilt or folly.—Taunton Gazette.

Too Inquisitive?

Since May 16 the rules committee of the Legislature has had in its hands the following order offered in the House by Representative Coyle of Boston:

Ordered, That the committee on rules, who are to investigate the charges of bribery recently made against members of the House of Representatives, be instructed to have all hearings public.

As the committee has found it inadvisable to accept either of the three offers of publicity made by the Boston Journal, would it be considered too inquisitive to inquire if the committee is likely to report on Mr. Coyle's order before or after the investigation is finished? And if it should report favorably would the committee recommend that the legislation be made retroactive?—Boston Journal.

Truth Needs No Shield Around It.

If the inquiry is public, and nothing damaging is discovered, then surely the people must praise rather than blame the legislators. A secret session always gives rise to suspicion. If there is graft, root it out and the more public the better. If no graft exists, what is there to conceal? Every honest member wants the truth. The truth needs no shield around it.—Springfield Union.

THE INVESTIGATION A FARCE.

An investigation that is not intended to investigate is now being carried on by the Committee on Rules of the Massachusetts House of Representatives behind closed doors.

This kind of star chamber investigation has called forth from the public and justly so, a loud protest from one end of the Commonwealth to the other.

The investigation, as now conducted, only tends to excite general contempt for the Legislature as a body.

The members of the Legislature are themselves to blame for the adverse criticism their action has evoked.

There is no justification for the course that is being pursued by the Committee on Rules. Charges of bribery are too serious to be trifled with by Speaker Cole and his committee.

The Committee on Rules, by summoning witnesses to testify behind closed doors and threatening them with punishment for contempt if they make public even their own testimony, has only confirmed the general opinion that bribery, bare-faced bribery, was resorted to to defeat the bucketshop bill.

But it is nothing new to have bills killed in the Legislature by the use of money.

The existence of a notoriously corrupt lobby, maintained by public service corporations, is proof conclusive to the minds of intelligent men that money is used annually to defeat legislation intended to benefit the public.

If money were not used in large sums to defeat legislation that affects certain corporate interests, there would be no lobby in existence to disgrace the Legislature and the State.—Worcester Evening Post.

The Legislative Star Chamber.

Unquestionably it is an ill-advised policy to which Speaker Cole's committee on rules has been fastened by shutting the doors upon all publicity. And by this time the members of that committee probably begin to see it.

They have placed themselves in a position where every charge will be denounced as "whitewash," no matter how clearly their secret inquiries may point to a sweeping verdict of not guilty. And a whitewashing report will not be accepted by public opinion.—Boston Post.

Investigation Discredited in Advance.

If the Legislature desires to have this proposed investigation of the bribery scandal, which it is to undertake, discredited in advance, it is pursuing the course to insure that by conducting the inquiry behind closed doors. What is it afraid of?—Fall River Globe.

Closed Doors Look Suspicious

The committee on rules continues on its secret investigation of the bribery charges against the Legislature. An investigation of the sort might better have been left to the Grand Jury, which has undertaken it, but if the public had no other suspicions about the effectiveness of this committee investigation, the fact that it is held behind closed doors is suspicious enough.—Fall River Herald.

No Doubt, of Course, What Result Will Be.

The Legislature is to investigate itself on the alleged bribery charges. It will be a star chamber proceeding, and all the public will hear about it is what the Committee on Rules may see fit to give to the press. The committee may as well make its report next week. We all feel sure what the result will be. Our Representative (Walker) lost a golden opportunity in not standing out and opposing such a secret investigation.—Brockton Press.

"After You."

Mr. Lawson declares he would go to jail first, rather than tell who told him, and the being-investigated Legislature bows in submission and responds: "After you, Gaston!"—Boston Globe.

TURN ON THE LIGHT!

IMPORTANT NEWS

Revised Hourly for Busy Readers.

FOREIGN.

COSSACKS KILLING AND LOOTING.

TIFLIS, May 22.—Cossacks are terrorizing the district of Choucha, killing and plundering the inhabitants. General Malama, military commander, makes no efforts to end the bloodshed. Armenian and Georgian newspapers have been suppressed.

WITTE WANTS PARIS POST.

PARIS, May 22.—M. Nelidoff, Russian Ambassador here, wants to retire, it is reported, and Count Witte and his wife ardently desire the position. Owing to the campaign against Count Witte by the French press, however, it is not likely that the post will be given to him.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA BACK HOME.

WEYMOUTH, Eng., May 22.—Queen Alexandra and the Princess Victoria arrived yesterday on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert from their Mediterranean cruise.

WASHINGTON.

YEAR'S CANAL COST $28,348,281.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Estimates of the expenses of the Panama Canal for fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, aggregate $28,348,281. The largest item is for material, supplies and equipment, $10,374,511.

REVOLT IN ISLE OF PINES.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A report has reached the government that a revolt against Cuban authority is imminent in the Isle of Pines.

SIGN NEW MEXICAN TREATY.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Secretary Root and the Mexican ambassador yesterday signed a treaty regulating the use of the waters of the Rio Grande, the source of friction for twenty-five years.

RATE BILL BACK TO HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Slightly amended, the railroad rate bill was returned to the House by the Senate yesterday.

BOSTON.

FLAMES IN A FIRE HOUSE.

Rats carrying matches between the walls started a blaze in the fire station of Combination Company, No. 2, at No. 34 Winthrop street, Charlestown, early this morning, which was extinguished only after a hard fight. The firemen awoke to find the upper rooms of the building filled with smoke. Little damage resulted.

WARNING FROM HOSPITAL.

Warning has been sent out by the Boston Floating Hospital that an imposter, posing as treasurer of the floating hospital is soliciting funds. The genuine treasurer has no agents who solicit contributions. George C. Lee, of Lee, Higginson & Co., bankers, at No. 44 State street, is the treasurer.

LABOR.

VOTE FOR OPEN SHOP.

NASHUA, N. H., May 22.—The Nashua Co-operative Foundry decided last night at its annual meeting to maintain an open shop.

4,000 PAINTERS STRIKE.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Four thousand painters struck yesterday in this city for a wage scale of $4 per day for painters and $4.50 for decorators.

U. S. NAVY.

PRAISE NAVY FRISCO WORK.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Rear Admiral Goodrich, commander of the Pacific station, has been commended by the department for the prompt naval relief work in the Frisco disaster.

SAILORS IN CELEBRATION.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A detachment of marines will be ordered to take part in the Dorchester Day celebration June 9 at Dorchester, Mass.

NEW ENGLAND.

BREADLOAF'S POSTMASTER.

BREADLOAF, Vt., May 22.—Robinson E. Noble has been appointed Breadloaf postmaster.

K. OF C. HOLD MAY PARTY.

SALEM, May 22.—The Knights of Columbus are holding their annual May party here this week to raise money for the furnishing of their clubrooms.

OVERWORK KILLS MINISTER.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 22.—Rev. Daniel Wheldon, well-known Methodist minister, is dead as the result of a protracted spell of over-exertion.

MOTH HUNTER HURT.

MEDFORD, May 22.—While trying to drive away a swarm of gypsy moths yesterday from the estate of Gen. Lawrence, Thos. Mahoney, a laborer, was seriously injured in a fall from a tree.

SCHOONER FILLED AT DOCK.

CALAIS, Me., May 22.—The schooner Island City, loading with staves for Rondout, N. Y., filled at her dock yesterday.

500 MINERS ESCAPE FIRE.

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa., May 22.—The Hazel Kirke coal mine, near here, took fire yesterday while 500 miners were at work, but all got out safely. The ripple was spread. Tax loss is $5,000.

TO STOP SHANGHAING.

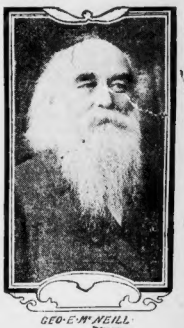
WASHINGTON, May 22.—The House yesterday passed a bill to prohibit shanghaiing in the United States.

Shirt Waist Suits today, $1.00. Starr & Co., 56 Winter street.

TRIBUTE TO G. E. M'NEILL, NEW ENGLAND APOSTLE OF LABOR; BURIAL TO-DAY

Frank K. Foster Writes of the Work and Character of the "Father of the Eight-Hour Day."

By Frank K. Foster.



OLD in years, but young in heart, pioneer in the cause he loved so well, patriarch in service, perennial in his zeal and enthusiasm, the Grand Old Man of the New England labor movement has passed away.

For over half a century, with voice and pen, with steadfast conviction and unabated vigor, George E. McNeill gave of the best that was in him for the betterment of the lives of those who carry the heavy burdens of the world of manual labor.

His was no mere theoretical knowledge of workaday life, no superficial dilettante sympathy with those under the handicap of the primal curse. In his youth he himself deeply felt the cramp and blind of the factory and shop, the revolt of those who saw where others reap. In his prime he faced the obloquy and persecution so often visited upon those who act as the spokesmen for the dumb masses, those who blaze the way along untrodden paths.

He lived to see, in large degree, the visions of younger days fulfilled; the philosophy he then elaborated accepted as the organic basis of the associations of labor and its truth conceded by thoughtful men in all walks of life. His lasting days were days of peace, placid as those of the traveller in far countries who sees once more the quiet harbor and familiar shores of his loved native land.

Personally Mr. McNeill possessed an exceptionally fine character. His mental equipment was brilliant, broad and catholic. Morally he was of a most lovable disposition. No man in the American labor movement was farther removed from the gross caricature which is so often drawn of the agitator and reformer. He was charitable to excess, a wise counsellor and a loyal friend.

He was fond of books, of art and, above all, of nature. Eloquent of speech, keen in debate, he had small liking for controversy, but preferred to work along constructive lines.

First in his own conception of the great problem of human relationships commonly called the labor question, he was yet markedly tolerant of the views of others thereupon and singularly free from that spirit of bitterness which radicals so often unjustly develop among themselves.

Mr. McNeill was an economic disciple of his early friend, Ira Steward, and worked out in detail the philosophy of the shorter workday initiated by the latter. Through his platform and literary efforts he contributed possibly more than any other man in America towards popularizing the belief now so general among labor associations of the entire country that the securing of the shorter workday is the direct line of advance towards a higher and better standard of life for working people. It is a notable coincidence—and doubtless he would have wished it to occur that the two last public addresses of the "father of the eight hour movement" were delivered at meetings held to advance the eight hour struggle in which the members of the International Typographical Union are now engaged.

It is a simple truth to say that thousands of workingmen feel a deep sense of personal bereavement by the removal from their councils of the picturesque and commanding figure of Mr. McNeill, but their grief may well be tempered by the reflection that their long time friend and and adviser bravely fought the good fight, and full of years, respect, honor and affection, has gone to the great unknown.

FUNERAL TAKES PLACE AT 2 O'CLOCK

Every branch of organized labor will be represented at the funeral of George E. McNeill, "father of the eight-hour law," which is held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Third Universalist church, Cambridge.

Previous to the church service there will be prayers for the relatives at the house, No. 19 Highland road, West Somerville. On special cars ordered to the 1:25 train from North Station a big delegation, with many floral tributes have been sent to both house and church. They come from labor men, from organizations and from the business world.

Many beautiful floral tributes have been selected to act as bearers at the funeral; James Duncan, first vice-president of the American Federation of Labor; Frank H. McCarthy, former president of the Central Labor Union; Dennis B. Driscoll, secretary-treasurer State branch American Federation of Labor; Edward Cassidy, president State branch; Martin T. Joyce; Henry Abrams, secretary Central Labor Union; Treasurer Philip H. Sweet; Frank K. Foster, executive board, Central Labor Union.

(Cut Out This Advertisement)

Women's $2 and $2.50 Sample Waists

Just 150 fine lingerie and lawn waists go on sale tomorrow from 9 to 12 A. M.

Made long or short sleeves, button back, variety of styles, 36, 38 and 40 sizes. Only 2 to a customer. None at this price without this advertisement. Each 1.00

No mail or 'phone orders.

L. STARR & CO.

35-41—Winter St., Boston—35-41

9816—R. A.

THE LATEST AND BEST METHODS ALONE ARE USED IN OUR THOROUGH EYE TEST

We employ only skilful and experienced eye doctors. It will cost you nothing to have your eyes examined. Glasses sold if you need them.

MYERS & FRANKS,

Wilson's New Jewelry Store

Jewelers and Opticians.

11 HANOVER ST., Open Evenings

BABIES ON FIRE

With burning, itching, scaling, crusted humors, instantly relieved and speedily cured by warm baths with CUTICURA SOAP and gentle applications of CUTICURA OINTMENT, the great Skin Cure, when all else fails.

L. SPEIDEL & CO., Main 303

51 Sleeper Street, So. Boston.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer

ORDER A CASE FOR YOUR HOME TO-DAY

"Oh! How Good!"

The unanimous opinion of all who use

"SALADA"

CEYLON AND INDIA TEA

A Trial Packet Will Convince You

Black, Mixed or Oolong. Trial Packet 10c. At All Grocers.

When Your Grocer Gives You

WARD-CORBY CO.

WARD'S TIP-TOP BREAD

CORBY BRANDS

he has given you the best bread that is made. He has done his full duty. In these days of "Just as Good," self-interest demands that you look for the label—WARD'S TIP-TOP BREAD—which is on every loaf of the bread that is 100 per cent. pure, on every loaf of the nicest, whitest, lightest and most nourishing bread ever baked.

WARNING—Learn to discriminate. Things are not always what they seem. When purchasing WARD'S TIP-TOP BREAD, look for the TIP-TOP LABEL—the mark of excellence, which guarantees the best quality and absolute purity.

Ward-Corby Co., Cambridge

COULD TUCKER WALK 3 MILES AND KILL MABEL PAGE IN ONE HOUR?

New Map Covering Route Taken by Condemned Youth on Day of Tragedy Brings Out Vital Points in Time and Place—Was His Alibi Complete?

To-day's News in Tucker Case

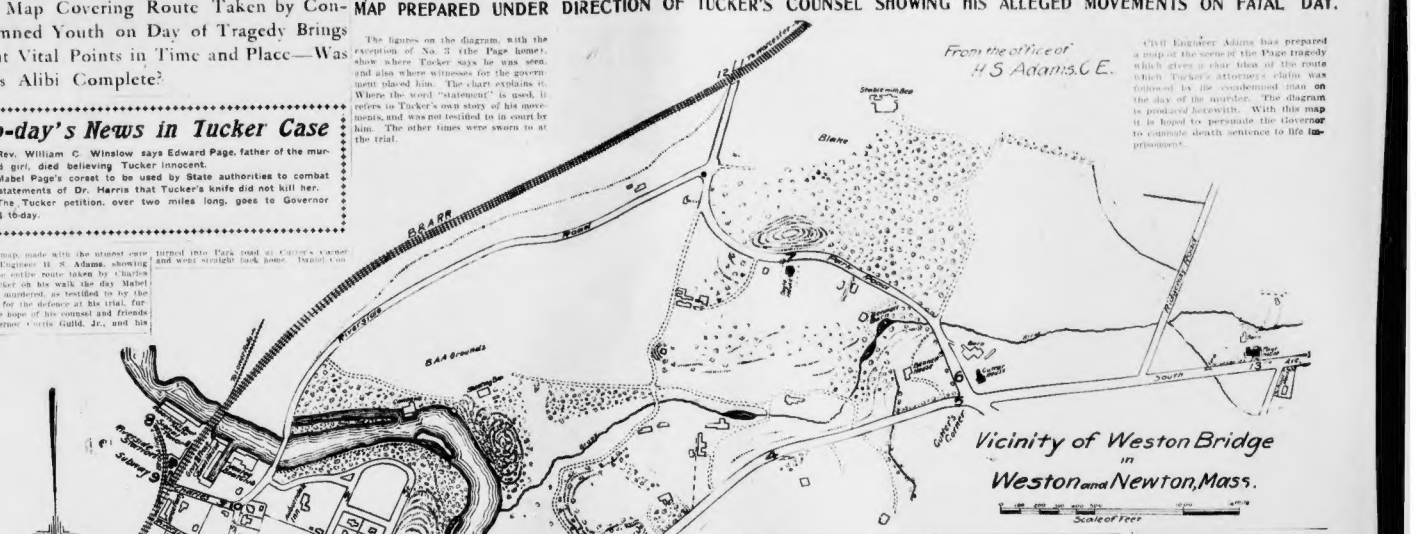
Rev. William C. Winslow says Edward Page, father of the murdered girl, died believing Tucker innocent.

Mabel Page's corset to be used by State authorities to combat the statements of Dr. Harris that Tucker's knife did not kill her.

The Tucker petition, over two miles long, goes to Governor Guild to-day.

MAP PREPARED UNDER DIRECTION OF TUCKER'S COUNSEL SHOWING HIS ALLEGED MOVEMENTS ON FATAL DAY.

The figures on the diagram, with the exception of No. 3 (the Page home), show where Tucker says he was seen, and also where witnesses for the government placed him. The chart explains it. Where the word "statement" is used, it refers to Tucker's own story of his movements, and was not testified to in court by him. The other times were sworn to at the trial.



1	11:50 A.M.	Tucker left home. Statement
2	12 M.	Seen by S Conolley and O'Kingsbury. As testified	1-2, 2122 ft
3	12:5 P.M.	E.N Frost	2-3, 300
4	12:10 to 12:15	Dooley Seen by Tucker Statement.	3-4, 1320
5	12:15 - 12:20	P Conolley - - (Dropped pipe) Statement:	3-5, 2414
6	12:20 - 12:26	Seen by Dan Conolley As testified.
7	12:30	" " Geo Doyle " "	5-7, 1322
8	12:45 - 12:56	" " Tomerman Murphy " "	7-12, 4900
9	12:45 - 1	" " Colley " "	8-9, 200
10	12:45 - 1	" " Mrs. Standish " "	9-10, 400
11	12:50 - 12:55	" " S Conolley	10-11, 904
			11-1, 810 ft	5-13, 1677 ft

A new map made with the utmost care by Civil Engineer H. S. Adams, showing clearly the entire route taken by Charles Louis Tucker on his walk the day Mabel Page was murdered, as testified to by the witnesses for the defence at his trial, furnishes one hope of his counsel and friends that Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., and his council will consider his appeal for life favorably. Another point on which the case in built is the statement of Civil Engineer Frank A. Harris that the knife taken from Tucker could not have caused the wounds which killed Mabel Page.

This new map discloses in a strong way the alibi that it was thought by many people in the court-room conducted would be established by the story. It gives new importance to the boy who swore that Tucker was at the various spots where he was seen, and fixes the measurements as to distance in the different points.

Left Home at 11:50 A. M.

Tucker left home, according to the story, kept on down Park road to the railroad and walked along the track homeward. Between 12:45 and 12:56 he was seen by Timerman Murphy at the original home after he had crossed the Charles River railroad bridge. Between 12:45 and 1 o'clock Station Master Cilley saw him at the station.

Between 12:45 and 1 o'clock Mrs. Standish testified she saw Tucker in front of her house on Charles street. He was walking toward home.

Sarah Connolly swore she saw Tucker between 12:50 and 12:55 in front of her house on Charles street, which is but a few minutes walk from Tucker's home.

This map shows that Tucker was gone from his home from 11:50 until about 1 o'clock, an hour and 10 minutes. During that time he walked 19,872 feet, or nearly two and three-quarter miles.

The Factor of Time.

It is the contention of the defence that in that time Tucker could not have traveled the 1,677 feet, the distance between Cutter's corner and the Page house, nor could the 1,677 feet, and in addition to the two and three-quarter miles which his witness testified he traveled. In other words if Tucker had gone to the Page house, he would have had to walk in all about three and one-fourth miles from his home, there and back. The defence claims that he had not time to do this and take the time that was necessary to accomplish the murder.

Seen at Cutter's Corner.

This is the most vital point in the walk of Tucker, according to his story and that of his witnesses. The defence claims that Tucker has not proved the Page house that time. The State contends that Tucker continued to the Page house murdered the girl and, cutting across the fields back of the house, struck the Park road down about where he was seen by George Doyle.

Tucker's counsel contended that the boy testified that Tucker did turn around when he reached home and, placed Cutter's corner toward home, did walk the time between 12:20 and 12:25. George Doyle saw Tucker at 12:30 at the corner quarter of a mile down the Park road, headed toward Auburndale.

At the trial Attorney-General Parker made a savage attack on Doyle, and elicited admitted his testimony as false. But Doyle stuck to it and gave reasons why he recognized Tucker and how he fixed the time.

Walked Along the Track

Tucker then, according to the story, kept on down the Park road to the railroad and walked along the track homeward. Between 12:45 and 12:56 he was seen by Timerman Murphy at the original home after he had crossed the Charles River railroad bridge. Between 12:45 and 1 o'clock Station Master Cilley saw him at the station.

Between 12:45 and 1 o'clock Mrs. Standish testified she saw Tucker in front of her house on Charles street. He was walking toward home.

Sarah Connolly swore she saw Tucker between 12:50 and 12:55 in front of her house on Charles street, which is but a few minutes walk from Tucker's home.

This map shows that Tucker was gone from his home from 11:50 until about 1 o'clock, an hour and 10 minutes. During that time he walked 19,872 feet, or nearly two and three-quarter miles.

The Factor of Time.

It is the contention of the defence that in that time Tucker could not have traveled the 1,677 feet, the distance between Cutter's corner and the Page house, nor could the 1,677 feet, and in addition to the two and three-quarter miles which his witness testified he traveled. In other words if Tucker had gone to the Page house, he would have had to walk in all about three and one-fourth miles from his home, there and back. The defence claims that he had not time to do this and take the time that was necessary to accomplish the murder.

Some of the names, picked from the petition at random, are:

E. R. Williams of Paine, Webber & Co., Boston.

Dr. Daniel Hunt of No. 295 Commonwealth avenue.

Thomas Marnix of No. 7 Water street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Evans of Warren.

H. S. Vaughn, General Electric Company, Lynn.

Elizabeth E. Hallinann, Elmhurst, Readville.

William T. Davis, historian, Plymouth.

Winslow Brewster-Standish, Plymouth.

E. A. Bullard, manager American Slate Company, No. 131 State street.

Catholic Club, Fall River.

Representative Fred Lord, Attol.

Levi B. Pay, president Attol Savings Bank.

Herbert L. Hapgood, Selectman, Athol.

Ex-Deputy Sheriff A. G. Bennett, Springfield, who sprang the trap on O'Neil.

Dr. A. Gaylord Northboro.

George W. Moose, Clinton.

E. J. James, Tavern Hall, Cambridge.

Albert G. Herrick, Fall River.

Rev. Edward A. Rice, 95 Pearl street, city.

Charles A. Dodge, No. 8 Beacon street, city.

George A. Brown, chairman Republican Town Committee, Heath.

Rev. A. M. Osgood, Charlestown.

Rev. John Evans, Charlestown.

Rev. George G. Hamilton, Everett.

Dr. Hiram L. Chase, No. 924 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

Charles H. Fiske, Weston.

Benjamin L. Dodbeer, Tufts College.

John Milton Dean, Fall River.

Percy C. F. Picher, Lowell.

Frank T. Ray, Framingham.

Councilman Robert Seaton, Boston.

William P. McClellan, Chairman Democratic City Committee.

Mark V. O'Neil, manager Interstate Lyceum of Journalistic Education, South Hingham.

Sylvester Callahan, Springfield.

L. Boyd Porter, No. 700 Columbia road, Dorchester.

G. Alvin Grover, superintendent of schools, Charlemont.

Rev. W. Miller, M. C., Charlemont.

Dr. S. B. Bowker, Grant Republican Town Committee, Charlemont.

John A. Wells, Charlemont.

John A. Wood, Charlemont.

Abner C. Clark, Spencer.

Judson F. Woodman, Old South Building.

George W. Woodman, Melrose.

Rev. E. P. Ford, president Wheaton Seminary, Norton.

Rev. Silas Morse, Merrimac.

Rev. Rufus M. Taft, Worcester.

Rev. H. H. Pond, No. 437 Maple street, Somerville.

Rev. Charles Hopkins, No. 16 Rockland avenue, Roxbury.

Rev. W. C. Sunbury, Lawes street.

116,555 NAMES ON TUCKER PETITION

The monster petition to Governor Guild, which goes to the State House to-day, contains 116,555 names, of which 80,860 are men and 35,695 women. They are sent up thus early in the week in order that the Governor and Council may have an opportunity to fully examine the names. Any other names received before next Monday will be added to the petition by counsel in accordance with the Governor.

This number represents in a large measure the names of persons who have signed without any solicitation. Requests have been sent to various parts of the State where they have heretofore not been placed.

It is estimated that the petitions, if joined together, would make a continuous line from the State House to the East Cambridge Jail. The combined petition is about a mile in length, as it is estimated that from twenty to twenty-five signatures are written in every foot of space.

Many thousands of names from outside of the State have been received, but they are not included in the count.

PHYSICIANS REFUSE TO UPHOLD HARRIS

Medical Examiner Harris stands alone, but firm, in his declaration that Tucker's knife could not have made the wounds which killed Mabel Page. The score of physicians who saw and examined the body of the murdered girl will stand by the slightest encouragement to the representations of the medical examiner.

Dr. Mead of Watertown and Dr. Wood of Waltham, two of the three, refuse to make any statement relative to the matter, except as to their testimony as they remain to be examined on the witness stand. But Dr. H. P. Frost of Newton, the third physician, not in the employ of either side in the murder, makes a statement in direct contradiction to the contradictions of Dr. Harris.

"Medical Examiner Harris never even looked upon the body of Mabel Page," says the doctor, "and for him to come out at this time or, in fact, any other time, with such a statement as he has made regarding the kind of knife which was used in the murder of this woman is nothing more or less than nonsense.

"All the work that Dr. Harris did on the case was conducted by means of measurements and descriptions taken from the report of the autopsy, and, at the best, such descriptions as could be given, even by the three doctors who were present, would be entirely inadequate for a real working basis.

"No one can go back of the knowledge of those who saw and touched the wounds on the corpse of Mabel Page, and it certainly is not right to attempt to go back of such knowledge when one knows of the conditions only by description.

"Dr. Wood of Waltham, Dr. Mead, the former medical examiner, and myself are the only ones who saw the body.

"We saw and touched the wounds and dissected them, and if our descriptions to Dr. Harris were not sufficiently clear to impress upon him the true mind's picture of the conditions, I do not consider it our fault, and I would not say it was his fault, for no one can see with another's eye."

STRANGE STORY TOLD BY EDWARD PAGE

Continued from First Page.

edged knife owned by Tucker could not have made the fatal wounds, a new exhibit leaps into importance in the case—the picture of the cut on the corset of the murdered girl, where the blade that sent her to eternity pierced.

Now a third feature springs into the case in behalf of Mr. Harris that Mabel Page was the victim of a notorious slugger of a few years ago and that young Perry, who died in jail was guilty.

SAYS PERRY CONFESSED.

The lawyer who defended Perry, now for the first time, is the interests of truth in the Tucker mystery, reveals the fact in an astounding statement that the young colored lad had made a confession before his death that he was the mysterious "slugger," and that his motive was robbery. This confession has been rumored for a long time, and had nearly been forgotten. This is the first time that it was ever confirmed.

The Tucker petition goes to the State House to-day and it will be held pending the outcome of the hearing upon the new evidence for Tucker.

Sale Shirt Waist Suits today, $1.98. F. Starr & Co., 88 Winter street.

BILLINGS DENIES HE WILL HEAD POLICE

SAYS HE WOULD NOT BE COMMISSIONER UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES.

Colonel George B. Billings, Immigration Commissioner, told a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter to-day that not only had he not been offered the position of head of the Boston police department under the new arrangement of a single-headed commission, but that he would not accept it under any circumstances.

It was generally supposed last night that Governor Guild had set his mind on Colonel Billings as the man for the place.

"I would not accept the position under any circumstances," said Colonel Billings to-day.

Would Refuse Offer.

"It hasn't been offered me as a matter of fact, but if it should be I couldn't accept.

"There is absolutely no attraction for me in the position, except of course the salary, and that is not sufficient to induce me to resign my present place. Then again if I should accept the office I should feel it necessary to give up my connection with the Police Association and I do not care to do this.

"You can make it as strong as you want to that George B. Billings will not be the next Boston police commissioner."

Colonel Billings' name was first mentioned as the probable man, but many Republicans who were consulted by Republican conferees last night, it seemed to be a settled fact. Governor Guild did not say a word for publication, but the information was declared to be authentic. It is understood, however, that Governor Guild will announce his appointment within a few days, and some time during the week. His appointee will take charge of the police department, superseding the present Board of Police, on June 1.

O'Meara on Excise Board.

In the other selections which were made last night by those who claimed to know what they were talking about it was said that the Governor would appoint John F. O'Meara, a well-known Republican member, Stephen O'Meara, former editor of the Boston Journal, and Frederick H. Emery of Ward 24. Governor Guild has not yet said whether these two are his selections or not.

The Democrat is to be named on the board. Many names have been suggested to the Governor, including former Senator Peter F. Tague of Charlestown and John F. Leahy, the attorney.

CAR STRIKE OFF, GAIN FOR UNION

By an agreement reached yesterday, there will be no strike of the employes of the Boston & Northern and Old Colony Street Railway Companies. This understanding was reached after a series of conferences at the office of President Sullivan of the former at No. 84 State street. Those at the final meeting, besides President Sullivan and other officials of the road, were representatives of the thirteen unions, International President W. D. Mahon of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America, and Dennis Fitzgerald of New Haven, members of the executive board of the international. A satisfactory arrangement was arrived at regarding wages, hours of work, etc., and the men obtain what is practically a recognition of their demands.

The conditions of agreement were not made public.

JOHN L.'S MANAGER BURIED.

John J. Howard, for several years manager of John L. Sullivan, the prize fighter, was buried yesterday from St. Mark's church, Dorchester, sporting men from all over New England attending.

EARTHQUAKE'S DEATH LIST IN FRISCO IS 395

One Hundred and Eight Were Killed in Collapse of Agnew State Hospital.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Four cases were added to the coroner's list of earthquake and fire victims yesterday. The total number is 395.

Beside the scores of employes and patients injured in the collapsing of the Agnew State Hospital on the morning of the earthquake, there were ten killed. After considerable research a definite list has for the first time been completed. The list shows that eleven employes and ninety-seven patients were killed amid the falling brick and huge timbers, also those who died later of their injuries.

The names of employes killed, as reported by Medical Superintendent Leon and steckling, is as follows: Officers and employes: Dr. E. A. Kelly, H. Pratt, Miss A. Lowte, John Lynch, Miss E. H. Holmes, Miss L. Burgess, L. L. Bell, Mrs. A. Thaine, Mrs. R. Walker, E. H. Crosson, Miss M. Fennell.

The anticipated run on the banks yesterday did not materialize. When the vaults of the banks opened in their downtown quarters, they did so expecting a rush on the part of depositors, and were fully prepared to meet it. Instead of demands for withdrawals of their own accounts, a number of depositors, and every receiving teller was far busier than the paying tellers.

MOURNS WIFE, BREAKS STATUE

By Boston American Leased Wire.

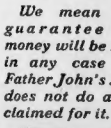
NEW YORK, May 22.—Putting life from motionless little children to bed and kissing the lips free of the chilled wife who had been his model for many years, Robert W. Paine, the sculptor, protege of Augustus St. Gaudens and friend of the ill-fated Paul Nugent, last night at 11:30 o'clock entered the great studio of his home on the brow of the palisades, nailed in hand, and by the light of a single candle fell to work finishing his superb allegorical model in clay of Nepthe, the Egyptian goddess of healing and sleep.

To-day, taking the children with him, he left a fellow-friend wife to their former home in Valparaiso, Ind., with the announced intention of breaking his art and starting life anew in some other more peaceful town.

The self-inflicted death of Mrs. Beatrice Paine, gifted as a painter and writer, a woman of charming personality, inflicted by her husband and her four children, proved the tragic culmination of ten years of unrequited effort and endeavor by her sculptor husband.

RUSTY NAIL HER DEATH.

QUINCY, May 22.—Mrs. Margaret A. Saltonstall of Braintree died of lockjaw at the City Hospital here yesterday. Two weeks ago she stepped on a rusty nail.



A Food Medicine.

Guaranteed.

We mean by our guarantee that the money will be refunded in any case where Father John's Medicine does not do all that is claimed for it.

We guarantee it to build up those who are weak and run down.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

USE ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE.

A powder to be shaken into the shoes. If you have tired, aching feet, try Allen's Foot-Ease. It rests the feet and makes walking easy. Relieves corns, bunions, swollen and sweating feet. Makes new shoes feel easy. Sold by all druggists and Shoe Stores, 25c. Don't accept any substitute. For FREE trial package, also Free Sample of the PEDI-FANS (Sanitary CORN PAD), a new invention, address Allen S. Olmsted, Le Roy, N. Y.

Graham, Jack! Why didn't you get an umbrella?

"Didn't need any, dear, I'm as dry as a chip. I had on my raincoat, waterproofed shoes, and carried my Waterproofed Linen Collars and Cuffs."

At collar shops, or of us. Collars, 25 cents; cuffs, 50 cents.

The Fiberloid Co. LITHOLIN New York.

FREE TRIAL TREATMENT

including consultation. Examination with the Big X-Ray and chemical analysis of the urine by the staff of the officers of the Chronic Physicians. Hours 9 to 12 a.m. entrance 14 Bayless pl. Send 2 cent stamp for book on chronic diseases.

Office Hours—9 a. m. to 12 m., 2 and 7 to 8 p. m. Sundays, 10 to 12 m. Office of the Physicians.

LAWYER NOW SAYS PERRY WAS GUILTY

Patrick R. Kiernan, the attorney who defended George Loy Orange Perry, the colored youth accused of the murder of Clara Morton and Agnes McPhee, denies that the slayer of these two persons was also the slayer of Mabel Page. Attorney Kiernan practically admits that his client, now dead, had confessed to his guilt in the death of the first two women.

The admission of Mr. Kiernan of the guilt of his client, whose every confidence he was obliged by the best code of ethics to carry to the grave, places him in the same position of the medical examiner whom he refutes.

The particular remark attributed to Medical Examiner Harris which started Mr. Kiernan talking in the first place was as follows:

"I have said to several persons that I believed that the murder of Mabel Page was the same sort of assault that was made on Miss Clara Morton in Waverley, Monday morning.

"A little negro was arrested and charged with the crime. He died in prison. I believe that he did not commit any of the assaults. I believe that one person murdered Clara Morton and Mabel Page, and that he is still at large, and that the same sort of attack will be made on some other woman in time by that same person."

Mr. Kiernan was asked if he believed that Perry, had he lived, would be convicted as a murderer.

"That is my opinion," replied the attorney, slowly and impressively.

"Do you believe that Perry was a degenerate—one who would murder for the purpose that Dr. Harris intimates?"

"No. I do not," replied Mr. Kiernan, firmly. "Perry was a degenerate; but his motive was robbery."

"And you believe that Perry was guilty of murdering Clara Morton?"

"There is no doubt about it," said the attorney.

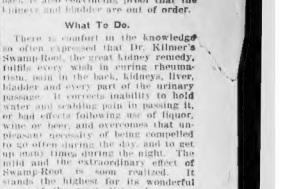
HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. If staining the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfils every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It overcomes inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address, Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in the Boston Daily American. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.



FAIR MISS DENIES RUMORED KISS BY BOY THAT HAS STIRRED OLD ANDOVER

Pretty Waitress Indignant at the Stories About Student's Expulsion.

"I was never kissed," declares Katherine Nacen, the pretty waitress at the Phillips Andover Inn, innocent cause of the turmoil at Phillips Andover Academy, where the faculty are today rigidly investigating the ducking by a band of masked students of James Milton Stewart, proprietor of the inn.

Miss Nacen left the inn to avoid the notoriety which was thrust upon her by the expelling of Travers Browne, a wealthy New York student who had been detected talking to her in the hallway. It was the expulsion of Browne that caused the ducking of Proprietor Stewart. Immediately a rumor started that Browne had kissed Miss Nacen, and that this was the reason for the expulsion.

To a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter who found her with relatives at No. 56 Leon street, Roxbury, Miss Nacen told for the first time her story of the affair at the inn.

"It was after chapel on Friday that Mr. Browne was expelled for talking to me in the hall the preceding Wednesday," said Miss Nacen. "I consider the expulsion entirely unjustified for, because Mr. Browne had simply called me returning to invite me to go riding with him.

"He did not kiss me, and whoever has said so has done so in a serious wrong. My future reputation is at stake, and my own living and this affair has put me in a false light.

"I was only there about four months, going there during the fall term. I know I could not work as millinery. I did not know Mr. Browne personally.

"Mr. Browne called that Wednesday evening to invite me to go riding with him, and I was about to reply when Mr. Stewart appeared and saw us. Of course, Mr. Browne violated a rule of the school, but I was hardly to blame, as I could not prevent him talking to me.

"All I know about the ducking of Mr. Stewart was when on Friday night all the girls were sitting on the verandah, when a lot of the boys I should say about 100, for that was what it seemed to me were there, marched up to the front of the inn. They were all masked and disguised in various ways. They had a band with them.

"We thought the boys were disappointed at losing their ball game with Princeton and were taking this means of showing their feelings. Suddenly one of the boys shouted, 'Where's Tracy?' I suppose that was the name they had agreed upon to call Mr. Stewart.

Sorry for Stewart.

"I thought they were about to save him make a speech, instead of that they rushed up to the veranda and seized him. They were all around him so that he could not defend himself. He was powerless and they rushed him down to the pond and threw him in. I was sorry for poor Mr. Stewart.

"Now I know nothing about the plot beforehand. I left the place because I wanted to avoid notoriety. I did not try to attract attention at the railroad station. Instead I tried to get away with as little notice as possible.

"The boys at the inn all liked me because I tried to please them. I was the first girl there who was ever engaged with a class choir. They was at the Easter vacation, when they were all leaving for their homes.

"I treated all of them courteously and that was all. I am entirely innocent of any wrong-doing in the affair, and the things that have been said about me are not true. It seems to me that I am entitled to be righted."

Miss Nacen is about nineteen years of age, a modest appearing girl with a mass of light hair and blue eyes.

Principal Alfred E. Stearns of Phillips Andover, who is in charge of the investigation, told a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter at Andover today that there would be no compromise with the students or the ducking of Landlord Stewart.

Guilty Must Suffer.

"We will be just, and being just we will punish accordingly," he said.

The members of the faculty are in session to-day as an investigating committee. The entire student body is being examined. They are trying to find out the truth or the falsity of the charge that Travers Browne of New York kissed Miss Katherine Nacen, one of the pretty waitresses at the inn.

On statements made to the faculty Browne was expelled.

This is the explanation of the affair as given to the BOSTON AMERICAN by Principal Stearns:

"The facts are these: Mr. Stewart of the Phillips Inn was dragged to the ice-hockey pond and thrown in. A party of our boys numbering some seventy-five or eighty and headed by an itinerant band committed the offence. The faculty are investigating and when we find the guilty boys we will punish them. There is no truth in the story as published in one Boston newspaper that we are to 'compromise' with the students. We will find the guilty ones and punish them. It has been said that the students will all go to their homes if we do this, but we will act with no fear of that. We will be just, and being just, we will punish accordingly. We have been in session two hours, but have not completed our investigations. We will do that today. There will be no 'compromise' with the students or anybody else as a whole in meeting the guilty ones."

KATHERINE NACEN, PRETTY WAITRESS AT PHILLIPS INN, ANDOVER.

Dorchester girl, who denies she was kissed by Andover student, for whose expulsion Landlord Stewart, suspected of "peaching," was ducked in Rabbit Pond by avengers, who in turn are the subject of rigid investigation by the academy faculty. This photo of Miss Nacen was taken in fancy costume worn for entertainment in which the girl took part in Cambridge about a year ago.

REP. TARR OF ROCKPORT INDICTED FOR PERJURY

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., May 22.—Represent- was held in $1,000 on the larceny com- native Frederick H. Tarr of Rockport has plaint. been indicted by the Essex County Grand Jury in five counts charging forgery and uttering and larceny from the town of Rockport.

He pleaded not guilty when called before the court on the forgery and uttering counts, which numbered ninety-four, to

Mr. Tarr was formerly a member of the Rockport Water Board, and it was while he was serving in that capacity that the charges were made. The forgery charges are made in connection with workmen's pay checks.

The sixteen counts of larceny allege that Tarr fabricated checks and realized on them

POPE BETTER; JOKES ABOUT HIS ILLNESS

Able to Leave Bedroom and Give Audience to Distinguished Visitors.

REPORTS AMUSED HIM

ROME, May 22.—The improvement in the condition of the pope continues. He was able today to descend to the apartment where he gives his audiences, which is on the floor below the one where he sleeps, and received Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state; Mgr. Bisleti, majordomo of the vatican, and Cardinal Katschthaler, archbishop of Salzburg, with whom he conversed for some time.

The pontiff joked about his illness, saying that he had been much amused by certain reports in the press depicting him as being at death's door.

ARCHBISHOP FARLEY ON THE WAY TO ROME TO SEE POPE

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Hurrying to Naples on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Luise to see Pope Pius is Archbishop John M. Farley, head of the archdiocese of New York. He is on his way ostensibly to tell His Holiness of the great increase in numbers and in wealth of the greatest of the American archdioceses, but it was believed that Archbishop Farley chose this time to go to Rome fearing that delay would be unwise.

Before Archbishop Farley left New York he said:

"Looking around New York, there are many things the Holy Father will be glad to hear about. I shall be able to tell him that the Catholic Church in New York with its property used for ecclesiastical purposes valued at $60,000,000, never was more prosperous than now.

"But there were two disquieting things in America which Archbishop Farley had in mind to discuss with the Pope. These were divorce and socialism.

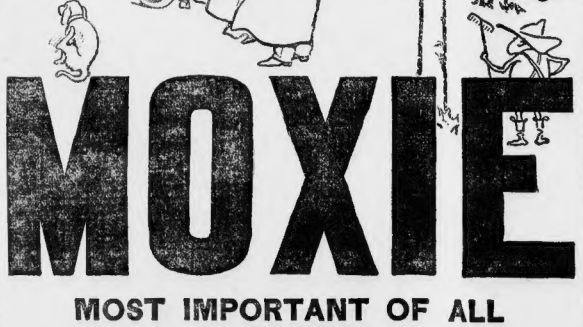
"The Catholics of the United States," said Archbishop Farley, "must face these issues. We must preserve the sanctity of the home, keep its bond indissoluble. And when new creeds and new theories shall arise to menace the integrity of our government the Catholic men of America will be there ready to defend it."

BERNHARDT'S TENT SHOW TO DRAW CROWDS

Sarah Bernhardt is to play "Camille" in a tent at Springfield because she cannot secure a theatre—they are all controlled by the "trust," which so effectually shut her out in Texas that she had to play long series of engagements there under canvas.

"Bernhardt in a tent" is the cry in Massachusetts now, and her performance at Agricultural Park in Springfield on June 8 will be one of the most novel events in her novelty filled career. Tickets are selling at a premium.

Mme. Bernhardt is to come back to Springfield under the local management of George P. Whitney. Cutting Park, where her tent is to be pitched, is not particularly well situated, but it is the best place that can be secured, and there are indications that the tent will be filled to its utmost. Bernhardt comes to Boston on the following day, June 9, to give two performances—"Camille" in the afternoon, and a composite performance of "Hamlet," "Froufrou," "L'Aiglon," "The Sorceress," in the evening in the Boston Theatre.



MOXIE

MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL

for an automobile trip is a case of delicious, thirst-quenching Moxie.

This great temperance beverage nourishes the nerves so that the automobilist who drinks it always has a keen eye, steady hand and clear brain.

Don't start on a long run without a case of Moxie. When you are sure that is aboard, then look to the gasolene and other necessary adjuncts for the trip.

Sold by all Grocers, Druggists and Dealers in temperance beverages.
$4.50 a case, 25 cents per bottle, 5 cents a glass at all fountains.

46Aaug

JORDAN MARSH CO.

Our Standard Always the Highest Our Stock Always the Largest
Our Prices Absolutely the Lowest

Men's Oxfords of Unusual Merit

Second Floor.

A Summer Display Second to None in Variety and Values

This men's shoe section compares favorably with Boston's most exclusive shoe stores in quality and range of assortments—it leads all in the matter of moderate pricing. You will find here the cleverest styles of the year—such shoes as only the best makers in Newark, Syracuse and Brockton can produce. And just the style your fancy calls for will bear a price you'll willingly pay.

A few styles have been taken almost randomly for mention—let them stand for a score of others at each price, equally new and worthy your inspection.

New Tan Calf Blucher Oxford at 3.50
One of the snappy styles for young men; military heels, narrow toes, medium weight extension soles. This Oxford is exceedingly popular and rivals in appearance and wear shoes that sell usually at 1.50 more. To be found here only at 3.50
Also the same style in calf and patent.

New Dull Calf Blucher Oxford at 3.50
A shoe that withstands hardest wear; medium toes and heels, heavy or medium weight soles. It meets to a nicety the demands of men who look for utmost footwear durability. A notable value at..... 3.50

New Patent Colt Blucher Oxford at 3.00
This shoe combines style and comfort most pleasingly; heels are low and the toes are quite full. One of our famous Pilgrim leaders, a 3.50 value for only..... 3.00
Similar style in tan and calf.

New Patent Colt Blucher Oxford at 3.50
A style particularly for young men; medium toe last, military heels, extension welt. One of the best fitting shoes brought out this season. Unmatched at..... 3.50
Same style in calf and tan, also.

New Black Russia Calf Lace Oxford at 5.00
A leather that polishes brilliantly; closely trimmed medium weight soles, swing last, narrow toes, blind eyelets.

New Tan Calf Blucher Oxford at 5.00
One of the best wearing grades made; heavy double soles; medium height of heel and width of toe.

New Patent Colt Lace Oxford at 5.00
A conservative style that will appeal to many; straight last, medium toes, soles with slight extensions.

New Patent Calf Lace Oxford at 6.00
A very stylish shoe with military heels, narrow toes, extension soles, blind eyelets. Same style in calf and tan.

The Treason of the Senate in June

The name that David Graham Phillips has given the series of articles he is writing for the Cosmopolitan is not a mistake. The Treason of the Senate is a fact.

The Constitution of the United States—Article III., Section 3, says: "Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort."

The greatest enemy of the people of the United States is "The Interests"—the plutocratic power which makes the people pay high prices, which openly defies the laws of the land, which is constantly grinding the wage-earner in the mills of its power.

The Senate, protecting "The Interests," this arch-enemy of the nation, justifies, indeed, this series of articles—The Treason of the Senate.

The June Cosmopolitan continues to tell of The Treason of the Senate, and, in particular, of Senator Spooner of Wisconsin and his treason to the people.

COSMOPOLITAN 10c a copy $1 a year

Buy it NOW—Take it Home

COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE
1789 BROADWAY NEW YORK CITY

WOMAN GETS GREEN AUTO $50 AT THIRD TRIAL

Mrs. Harry W. Richardson of Roxbury Stood at Right Place and Waited.

By Rev. A. E. George.

The Green Auto started out yesterday afternoon to award the weekly prize of $50. Its destiny this time was Charlestown.

Thousands have been following this story, and when the auto went through several streets of Charlestown suspicion was written upon the faces of many people eager to get a sight of its mysterious wanderings and to find out whether their calculations were correct.

When the auto turned into Concord street a few straggling adventurers waved the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN, only to be disappointed, for the exact place was not yet reached, and the auto passed them by, till the crowds of people thickened at the corner of Concord and Monument streets, which the machine reached with a great effort.

There the crowd besieged the machine. Women rising tenaciously to its sides, grasping part of the running gear, and several were thrown under the wheels. Men piled into the seats and took possession, boys and girls vied with one another to get hold of the machine, and in their struggles touched the lever, which made the auto come to a complete stop.

Then the crowd waved the SUNDAY AMERICAN, but, alas, it was not the spot. They were told so and released their hold, when the machine spurted ahead again and in a moment reached the exact place, where a woman, calm and collected, stood, like Minerva of old, and waved the AMERICAN.

To her belonged the prize. How pleased she was! She felt she had deciphered the story aright, and afterwards revealed her identity as Mrs. Harry W. Richardson of No. 32 Dennis street, Roxbury.

"How did you come to get the exact spot," she was asked.

"Oh, this is the third time I have tried," she replied. "I looked at the story carefully, and I knew Monument street and Monument square must be the place, so I stood my ground and watched for your coming. I knew the crowd was left in the right place, but I said nothing, and when I saw you speed along towards me I waited the AMERICAN harder than ever until you saw me, and then you kindly took me into the auto. Oh, I am so glad to get this reward. I thank you very much for your kindness. I wanted this bill of money very much. I do not intend to take a vacation, but I wanted this money for a special purpose, and now I can spend it for that.

"I am so happy to get it," she said again.

Mrs. Richardson is a young, prepossessing woman with kind and attractive face and manners. She was dressed neatly and made an excellent appearance.

After the crowd had learned that she was the winner several came up to her in informal way and offered their congratulations.

She held a kind of reception on the street and received them in a happy mood, and there was a generous rejoicing all around on the sidewalk over her success.

When she was about to leave she tucked the $50 in her handbag, smiling at her friends and those who felt that she had well deserved the reward.

"Be sure not to lose the money," said one of the bystanders.

"I have it put carefully away," she replied, and there was no happier person in Charlestown as she took her car for home, a little nervous, no doubt, but outwardly glad.

SPENT NIGHT OF TERROR IN FEAR OF QUAKE

Polish Quarter of New Bedford Rejoices Over Escape from Predicted Calamity.

NEW BEDFORD, MAS 22 After passing a night of terror in fear of an earthquake, predicted as due at daybreak, the Polish quarter is regaining confidence in the stability of the earth.

The panic-stricken exodus to Fall River which kept nearly 2,000 people up the greater part of the night, many spending hours in prayer, is slowly passing. Some of the Poles believe that the danger is over, and already are coming.

Others fled to Niagara Falls and other places to be away from their homes at the time when a Polish soothsayer said the earth would open into yawning gulfs, out of which would pour fire and brimstone and houses would topple and fall in ruins. Ever since the San Francisco disaster there has been a haunting fear in the Polish quarter in the northern part of New Bedford that this dire prophecy would prove true. The superstitious will have a feeling of light celebrate to escape from this dreaded calamity.

KNIGHTS READY FOR BARN DANCE

No event in the history of Boston Council, Knights of Columbus, has created greater interest than the big barn dance to be given in Copley Hall to-morrow evening. The grand march will be led by a village fire-brand.

Committees will be on hand to provide for those who have no costumes of their own. The Ben Party idea will dominate all features of the evening's festivities. The decorations will be reminiscent of the farm.

The evening's festivities will be in charge of a superintendent of the farm, foreman of the farm and a few similar individuals from the country. John H. Cullen of the Bank Clerks' Minstrels and P. J. McCarthy will be custodians of town consables.

TUFTS OWNS "POP" CONCERT TO-NIGHT

Tufts College will have its fourth "night" at the "Pops" this evening and one of the busiest turn-outs of the year is looked for. Over half the programme will be devoted to Tufts songs, which are of very original quality and there will be singing a-plenty. To-morrow evening will bring the second "Harvard Night," one of the most popular of the special nights which Mr. Adamowski has arranged this year.

TO APPEAL TO ARCHBISHOP IN 'SPECTRE' DANCE WAR

GIRL WHO WILL BE IN "SPECTRE" DANCE.

Puritan Club, East Cambridge, Declares Priest Who Condemned It Mistook Nature of Entertainment.

Archbishop John J. Williams is to be asked by members of the Puritan Club of East Cambridge to decide whether or not the "Spectre Dance," which will be a feature of its coming entertainment is an proper, as Rev. Fr. Hughes, rector of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in that city, stated from the pulpit. Some of his young women parishioners were to take part in the dance and the priest said to them:

"By holding this dance young men will be leading people into evil and temptation. Young girls will glide across the ball gowned in cheese cloth."

The members assert that Fr. Hughes is misinformed as to the character of the dance and that it is only an innocent and pretty spectacle. This was told the Rev. Fr. Malia, the Rev. Fr. Coffey and the Rev. Fr. Dugan after the denunciation was delivered. What the clergymen said in reply has not been made public. The statement by the rector caused a sensation in church circles.

"Why," said Miss Gertrude Moran of No. 25 Fourth street, who is to take part in the "Spectre Dance," "I can't tell that Fr. Hughes does not understand what the dance is, nor how we are to be dressed for it. I shall wear a regular ballroom gown and over it a white cheese cloth shawl in which my wings are cut."

"The shawl will be outfitted with phosphorus and, as the dance will be in the dim light, there will be a glow which is very pretty. We have drilled for the dance and it consists of a number of figures, including the bolero and horse parade. The dance is a Turkish bazaar. There is not a girl who will take part in the dance who is not above reproach. We advertised this to-night to draw a crowd and make the affair entertainment a financial success."

PREDICTS UGLY REVOLT IN THE ISLE OF PINES

Man Who Comes to Warn President of Danger is Refused Audience.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—According to S. H. Piercy, a large land owner in the Isle of Pines, a revolt against Cuban annexation is imminent and that the Isle of Pines follows the United States example and refuses to be annexed.

Mr. Piercy said this morning, "Capitol J. Pierce of Washington, called at the White House yesterday, but the President declined to see them and they were referred to Secretary Root. Mr. Pearce declared that he did not come to Washington to threaten the President with a revolt, but to which hundreds of American voters would be endangered, but simply to tell him the serious facts.

Mr. Pearce declares that the American residents on the Island are ready for open insurrection against Cuban rule, and that they have offers of aid from hundreds of friends and relatives in this country.

"We have been waiting for four months for the President the actual facts," said Mr. Pearce, "and we have come to the conclusion that the time has arrived when we must make up our mind or our property and the lives of the people are endangered. We are determined that they will endure the present conditions of Cuban government no longer. I shall advise my neighbors and countrymen to refrain from knocking or doing us possible, but I know how they feel. We do not propose to be ruled by Cuba. We would have the protection of the Stars and Stripes, and now we have the heavy hand of a tyrannical Cuban government. A regiment of colored troops, disarmed and mustered out, organized themselves into a mob and attacked and carried over to Cuba for trial because they made open American ownership."

MUSICIANS RAP THE SYMPHONY

At the convention of the American Federation of Musicians yesterday the Boston Symphony orchestra was criticized for its non-musician. Aldermen Bromberg and Kneeland, who were there as guests, opened the attack and Joseph Fitzgerald, who was also a speaker, dwelt on the beauties of the classics.

President I. N. Webber of the federation replied, saying that the Boston Symphony orchestra credit for all that was done in the way of the American Federation of Musicians has a right to demand," he said, "that the American people of ability shall be given the preference over outside talent."

RAPS METHODS OF BELMONT TO HIS FACE

Judge Gaynor Attacks Corporations in Presence of New York Trust Magnate.

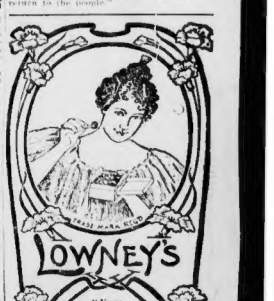
SAYS PEOPLE AWAKENING

NEW YORK, May 22.—In the presence of August Belmont, Supreme Court Justice Gaynor to-day charged the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the Consolidated Railroad last night, but refrained from the class of corporations to which Belmont is head.

Said Judge Gaynor:

"The terrible crimes of the corporations have aroused the people. The people realize that great utilities are being operated for the public weal, not for the aggrandizement of one man, which is the purpose of the Belmont Bill now before the legislature.

"Corporations have taken private property, which can only be taken possession of upon the assumption that certain rights are to revert to the owners of that property, when in fact they are providing no return to the owners.



"Name on every piece."

Lowney's Chocolate Bonbons are the most delicious and the most perfect confections made.

Every sealed package Warranted to be in prime condition or money refunded.

One thing peculiar to Lowney's candies is that they can be sent directly; they are pure and wholesome.

Another is that the Lowney package is full weight.

Send for the Lowney Receipt Book, The WALTER M. LOWNEY CO. BOSTON, MASS.

THE GREAT AUTO CHASE

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

The Finger of Fate.

CULBERSON arose, flecked imaginary dust particles from one sleeve, readjusted the set of his tie and reached for his hat.

"Enough of all this," he said. "I will send Miss Taylor in to you and then you can convince each other. Before I go, however, I will give you instructions as to where to meet me. I have chosen the spot, my dear friend, because it is reminiscent of days when we were younger and full of the follies of youth, when we were happily beguiling idyllic hours——"

His tone was taunting and there was the trace of a sneering smile about his mouth.

"Hush," she interrupted. "It's all very painful to recollect."

He smiled easily.

"Then you have forgotten—or do not care to remember—the moonlight walks, the flower strewn paths and the gorgeous sunsets as we strolled arm-in-arm——"

"Rather humorous, isn't it?" she asked bitterly. "I've often laughed over the fact that two people could have been so senseless."

"Two?" he inquired, with a slight lift of his brows.

"Well, only one if you insist," she replied. "In my own mind I always except myself."

Culberson reached out and took hold of the woman's slender wrist and gave it a sudden twist that drew cruelty of a beast.

"Don't try to be sarcastic with me, Kate," he warned her. "I don't choose to be the subject of any further insulting remarks from you. When I remember who you are and what you are, it often occurs to me that I willingly gave your society."

"Stop!" she commanded fiercely. "You will drive me too far one of these days, and I'll—I'll kill you."

She drew herself up despite the excruciating pain he had given her, and flashed such a look of fury upon him that, instinctively, at least, he was startled. He laughed rather nervously in the attempt to hold the master.

"Brave!" he exclaimed. "That was very good—excellent. The melodramatic stage will never know what it has lost in you."

He wrote something on a slip of paper and passed it across the table to her.

"Well, here's where we will meet," he said. "You understand, of course?"

Kate glanced at what was written on the sheet of paper and apparently understood.

"You are also to see the want page, as usual, for confirmation of that," he instructed.

"I think I know the place," Miss Pierce said at last. "It was there we spent the day you left America, leaving me alone to face the consequences of the crimes which you and your gang had committed. Fitting place is well chosen. Yes, I will meet you. I feel that it is an omen."

"An omen?" he asked.

"I mean," she went on, "that at that spot I shall begin life over again—a life, I trust, of happiness, and one of the first that was mine before I met you. You can't extinguish in your existence all that you get caught. God won't permit it. Take care that your vengeance doesn't fall upon you just as you are reaching out your hand to grasp the greatest of earthly gifts."

Culberson tried to laugh at the high sounding words, but she was in earnest, and they made him exceedingly uncomfortable. The blood rushed from his face, leaving it white and then looking red.

"Tommyrot!" he exclaimed, as if to convince himself. "I am not at the end of any rope yet, if that's what you mean to imply. Before me I be sure that I take the best care of myself in the transactions that will lead my peculiar genius. I don't like this croaking, though. Cut it out."

As Culberson left the room Kate Pierce sank down upon her knees beside a chair and wept bitter, scalding tears of remembrance and regret—blinding tears of lost happiness and utter despair.

Thus Margaret Taylor found her when she entered the room a few minutes later.

To Be Continued To-morrow.

Our Great

Soda Fountain

Ice Cream Soda at 5c
College Ices and Egg Drinks 8c
Frozen Pudding 8c

HENRY SIEGEL CO.

Hair Dressing Parlors 2nd Floor — Washington and Essex Sts. — Telephone Oxford 2600

FIGHT AGAIN TO SAVE PATRICK FROM CHAIR

Hearing Begins on Day That Condemned Man Was to Have Gone to Death.

DOOM STAYED BY REPRIEVE

By Boston American Leased Wire.

NEW YORK, May 22.—On the day set for his death in the chair, lawyers for Albert T. Patrick began yesterday another fight for the life of the man doomed to die for the murder nearly six years ago of William M. Rice, the aged billionaire. Another reprieve had again postponed his walk to the death chamber.

Medical experts employed by the District Attorney's office took up the time yesterday before Recorder Goff in their effort to disprove assertions by the defence that the congestion of the lungs disclosed by the autopsy on Rice's body was caused by embalming.

John S. Potter, an undertaker, who on September 24, 1900, embalmed the body of the dead millionaire, identified at the outset of his examination the pump which he had used in embalming the body and in answer to questions of W. M. K. Olcott of counsel for Patrick said he had used about a pint of the fluid through the brachial artery and less than two quarts of the fluid to embalm the entire body.

Dr. Robert Coleman Kemp told of experiments he had made on eight bodies which he obtained in the morgue. He tried embalming on a table in his office and was assisted by Dr. Hamilton Williams, former coroner's physician, but was told by the coroner the nearest approach he had noticed to the condition of Rice's lungs was in the case of a man who had died when he was thirty-three years old. In this case, he said, the same pressure had been used as at the Rice embalming and in the test made by him it was impossible to get any of the fluid into the lungs, although a tube-full of fluid had soaked through. Dr. Kemp said that in one experiment he had injected two quarts of fluid, and it was only after extreme force had been employed that any of it reached the lungs.

The hearing is on again to-day.

HEN LIVED FOR 30 DAYS IN WELL

SANTA BARBARA, May 22.—A hen that had lived thirty days without food or water was found and rescued in a twenty-foot dry well on East De La Guerra street. The bird belonged to A. Mrs. Miguel Burke, who missed it just a month ago. She looked down the well and thought that she saw the head of a snake looking from an excavation at the side of the hole. This turned out to be the head of the hen. It had dug into the side of the well, for what purpose it is not known, but probably in search of worms. There was scarcely a feather left upon the hen.

Patrick Csea in Brief

William M. Rice died..... Sept. 23, 1900
Albert T. Patrick arrested, forgery charge.... Oct. 4, 1900
Charged with Rice murder..... Feb. 27, 1901
Held for Grand Jury ..... April 16, 1901
Indicted for murder..... May 25, 1901
Found guilty ... March 26, 1902
Sentenced to death April 7, 1902
Resentenced to death..... Dec. 6, 1905
Date of death, as set, week beginning ..... May 20, 1906
Cost of defence, estimated.... $250,000
Cost of prosecution, estimated $325,000
Time in death house, Sing Sing 4 years 8 weeks

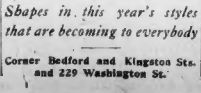
AERONAUTS ON 3-DAYS' TRIP

NEW YORK, May 22.—Dr. Julian P. Thomas, president of the Aero Club, and Charles Seyes, the French aeronaut, started yesterday afternoon from Port Jervis for a three-days' journey in a balloon.

Dr. Thomas announced that the trip was intended as an endurance test and that he would keep the air as long as his gas and food held out. The balloon, which has just been completed, has a capacity of 20,000 cubic feet.

Buy Your Straw Hat Now!

Lamson & Hubbard's



Latest Correct Styles.

Shapes in this year's styles that are becoming to everybody

Corner Bedford and Kingston Sts. and 229 Washington St.

16,000 Yds. of American Made Carpets

One-Third Less Than Will Be Possible a Month Hence

To effect this bountiful saving, purchases must be made now, as the rush for summer floor coverings will soon be on, and every skilled man we can procure will be busy for many precious hours. Our workroom can always be operated much more economically than others for many reasons. We have ample floor space and highly experienced workmen for making up carpets — a lack of room and unskilled, uncertain workers means a waste of time and labor, for which some one must pay—you can guess who.

We have carpet selling and making down to the point of giving the very best for the very least possible money, and here is an economic opportunity, unusual even in this great store of unusual things.

Notwithstanding the extra reductions in prices, we will make, line and lay free every carpet purchased 85c to $1.05 yard for beautiful Wilton Velvets, usually sell for $1.45 to $1.75. Made, laid and lined free.

69c per yard for 4000 yards of Tapestry Brussels Carpet, really worth $1.00 per yard. Made, lined and laid free.

1.17½ per yard for 3700 yards of extra heavy quality 5-frame body Brussels carpet, actual value $1.75.

49c per yard for 8000 yards of superior Ingrain carpet, genuine 75c value. Made, lined and laid free.

59c and 69c per yard for 3500 yards of Ingrain Carpet, genuine value 85c to $1.15 per yard. Made, lined and laid free.

Large American Rugs Priced Down

The smaller sizes of these rugs have sold very rapidly, leaving the stock of larger ones comparatively heavy. These prices are heretofore unknown on this grade of rugs, and are attached to them for the sole purpose of evening up the stock. The most superb examples of American rug weaving, at the prices of the cheapest goods.

$23.75 and $30.00 for size 9x12, best 5-frame Body Brussels Rugs, the most handsome made in the State. The small sizes sold for more than this.

$19.75 and $23.50 for size 9x12, extra heavy Axminster Rugs, magnificent $35.00 goods In this lot will be found some of the finest American work.

$17.90 for size 8.3x10.6, extra superior Axminster Rugs. The same beautiful specimens as the $19.75 rugs but smaller. No handsomer goods were ever woven.

$1.85 for size 27in x 63in, Axminster Rugs. A special for those who want a small rug just now. Perfect $3.75 goods, but there are only 160 left and we will clear them at this price.

10,000 Smyrna Rugs Must Sell Quickly

Because there are so many, we cannot allow them to be laggards—this makes the price low. For the same reason we procured them at the lowest purchase prices—this makes the price lower. And again, perhaps we have bought a little heavily—this makes the prices given below—absolutely without parallel.

Size 9 feet x 12 feet Smyrna Rugs. Genuine regular value $27.50 ..... $17.90

Size 7½ ft. x 10½ ft. Smyrna Rugs. Genuine regular value $18.50 ..... $13.90

Size 6 feet x 9 feet Smyrna Rugs. Genuine regular value $12.00 ..... $8.45

Well Timed Sale of New Straw Mattings

Finest Matting produced in either China or Japan. Regular government standard quality. These goods do not pass the government officials unless they are absolutely perfect in every detail. Many stores charge 55c, 65c and 75c per yard for this matting. Our prices for this sale, per yard 35c, 40c

60 rolls extra heavy China Matting, per roll of 40 yards $2.90

Japanese Matting, government standard quality. A bright new importation of this season's make, perfectly fresh and hygienic. Brought over by us from the most ingenious Japanese weavers. 50c to 75c values. Our prices for this sale, per yard 30c, 40c, 50c

175 rolls extra heavy China Matting, per roll of 40 yards $6.75

200 rolls extra heavy China Matting, per roll of 40 yards $8.75

$1.50 Inlaid Linoleum Per Square Yard: 95c

Extra heavy, inlaid, cork and oil kind. The design goes right through and will wear like a hardwood floor, and is much easier to care for. This grade has retailed in our stock for $1.50 per yard—considerably lower than others can sell it for, and still our price for this sale is 95c per square yard.

49c the yard for 60 pieces of 75c quality Linoleum (not inlaid) of exceedingly durable quality and a variety of nice designs.

25c the yard for 8000 yards of Oil Cloth, actually worth 39c a yard, made of best possible material, exceedingly desirable patterns.

16c the yard for 180 remnants of Oil Cloth, in various lengths of from 4 to 10 square yards. At this price as long as they last.

Third Floor, Hayward Place Side.

DR. SOLOMON

Boston's Most Successful Specialist in

TUMORS CANCERS GOITRES FIBROIDS

All Internal Growths

Absorption of Oils and Herb Treatment — All Chronic and Blood Diseases

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED

Consultation Free

2A Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

Send for Booklet and Symptom Blank

Hours: 10 to 6 — Saturday 10 to 9 — Sunday 10 to 3

Every Woman

is interested and should know about the wonderful

MARVEL Whirling Spray

the new Vaginal Syringe. It's Best, Safest, Most Convenient, Self-Cleansing. Best—and Only Perfect Syringe. 16 Choice Formulas.

Ask your druggist for it. If he cannot supply the MARVEL, accept no other, but send stamp for illustrated book—sealed. It gives full particulars and directions (in valuable ladies, MARVEL CO., 26 E. 22d ST., NEW YORK.

Head Sale Agents: Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., 136 Summer St., Boston, Mass.; Lewis & Co., druggists, 144 Washington St., and Scollay Square; Ford & Co., 22 Hawley st.; F. H. Gardner Co., 132 Washington st.; 77 Bromfield st., and Harrison av.

Liquozone Free

A big box for 10 days' treatment sent free to every sick person who writes for it. The Liquozone Company, 458-460 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill. Write to-day—you will never regret for a 50-cent bottle free, if you will state the disease or ailment.

LAX-ETS FOR BOWELS.

Lax-ets are not pills—Lax-ets are a new, sweet confectionery laxative for constipation, sour stomach and all bowel troubles. Lax-ets are so effective that you try Lax-ets you will never know its value—and we want you to try them at our risk. Send us 5 cents in stamps. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

Published Daily and Sunday at 86 and 88 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

NEW ENGLAND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHING CO.

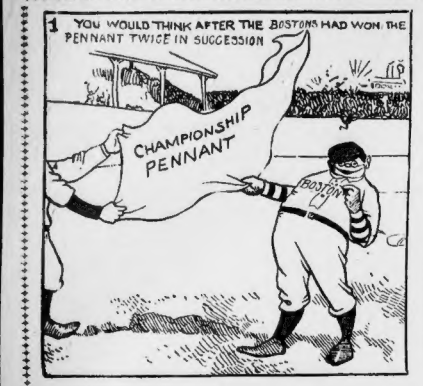
Entered as second class matter, March 21, 1904, at the postoffice at Boston, Mass.

Price: Daily One Cent; Sunday, Five Cents.

Terms: Postage included for the United States outside of Boston, Canada and Mexico.

Daily only:
One year	$6.00
Six months	3.25
One month	.55
Sunday only:
One year	2.50
Six months	1.25
Daily and Sunday:
One year	8.50
Six months	4.50
One month	.75

AND THE CRUEL TRUTH—17 STRAIGHT, WOW!



"BROOMSTICK WITCHES" LEAD KEITH'S FUN

Two novelties that would be almost sufficient for the whole bill are featured at Keith's New Theatre this week, and either of them has ever been seen on the vaudeville stage in Boston before. One on the list is Delight Bacsch and "The Broomstick Witches," formerly one of the features in "The Isle of Spice." Luigi Rossi's musical horse, Kinic, is the second novelty. The animal accompanies Mr. Rossi on a number of musical instruments and does it very cleverly. He shows musical intelligence, and the musical selections are not easy ones, either. Next in importance comes the musical in the acrobatic line. Furnished by the Bedouin Arabs, acrobats, tumblers, pyramid builders, and good ones, too. It would not be a Keith show if there were not an abundance of comedy features. Two leaders in this department are Gertrude Mansfield and Cyril Wilbur in a sketch called "61 Prospect Street." In addition there are Raymond and Caverly, Scanlon and Miller, Charles Case, Arthur and Mildred Boylen in "Jack and Jill," one of the cleverest things ever put on at Keith's; Drake and Carolyn Delmore, instrumentalists; Salmon and Chester, contortionists; the Barretts, Waldorf and Mendez. The Baltons, "real coon" comedians, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayman in a comedy sketch. The kinetograph has a new list of motion pictures.

DREW'S COMEDY AT CASTLE SQUARE

There is a great deal of pleasure in witnessing a clean, wholesome comedy played by a well-balanced stock company in a hearty, sincere, spirited manner. "Christopher, Jr.," the very best comedy that Madeline Lucette Ryley has ever written, was presented by the Castle Square stock company last evening, and it was presented as it originally written for John Drew, and played by him all over the country. "Christopher, Jr.," is clever both in plot and its continuous series of comic situations. Its revival by the Castle Square this week is particularly welcome after the long run of "fears" plays that has been Boston's fate at the other theatres.

Howell Hansel has never had a part that fitted him better, and Lillian Kemble plays opposite to him with rare intelligence. They make the comedy scenes fairly rush and tumble over each other, so earnest do they enter into their work. The "stern parient" is capitally impersonated by William McVay, and the others of the cast, which is a long one, deserve individual praise which only pace prevents.

NANCE O'NEIL IN FIVE ROLES

Nance O'Neil came to her own last evening at the Hollis Street Theatre, for she achieved a success in a house filled with her friends, who applauded, cheered and encored her and finally compelled her to make a speech. It was the closing performance of her engagement here, and was a testimonial benefit to her personally, to enable her to recoup some of the financial losses she suffered by the San Francisco earthquake.

Miss O'Neil appeared in the third act of "Camille," the second act of "Magda," the scene from the fourth act of "Zaza," the last scene of the second act of "Oliver Twist," and the sleep walking scene from "Macbeth," in a program that made ex-

FUNNY BURLESQUES PLEASE AT PALACE

Two really funny burlesques and an olio of more than ordinary merit is the bill offered by "Charlie" Waldron and his stock company at the Palace Theatre this week. The skits which have been produced by Leo Stevens Bates are all with great favor, and this week he has put on two exceedingly clever ones. They are well staged, and the costumes are bright, new and decidedly attractive.

The olio includes Merritt and Rogers, "Comedians of Folk and Folk," Allan Coogan and the Mctiarthurian Four.

BURLESQUERS AT LYCEUM THEATRE

Trans-Oceanic Burlesquers gave very enjoyable entertainments yesterday at the Lyceum Theatre, presenting "Mulcahy's Masquerade," in which Joseph Kelley and Billy Williams are the chief funmakers. Musical numbers were interpolated by Frank Cahan, Marion and Blake, Flo Lord, Meta Pfeuer, Marshall and King, Virginia Kelsey, Louis Lewis, Willis Cohan, Harry Le Mare and others. The olio with character impersonations by Baxter Brown picture hoss frolic, Hammon and Corey Ward and Raymonds and the moving pictures. The concluding feature was "A Bunch of Padlocks."

9 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS & CHILDREN.
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Dr. SAMUEL PITCHER
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES—35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
In Use For Over Thirty Years
CASTORIA
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

SOCIALISM IN DRAMA GETS WARM CHEERS

Boston Audience Warmly Applauds Coupling of Its Principles and Christianity.

The Boston audience which thronged the Majestic Theatre last evening to see Miss Margaret Anglin and her company play "Zira" cheered and loudly applauded the socialistic sentiment uttered by one of the characters who impersonated a leading character in the drama. The manifestation of approval by the audience was so spontaneous and prolonged that it caused much comment on the part of house attaches.

Arthur Lawrence, who is playing the role of a bishop in "Zira," is much impressed by statements made by Charles Dalton as the Hon. Gordon Clavering, and the former angrily says in the dialogue of the drama:

"But this is rank socialism."

The Rev. Gordon Clavering (Charles Dalton) quickly responds:

"True socialism is Christianity, my lord. I am proud to belong to its ranks."

This answer was what evoked enthusiasm on the part of the audience.

Those lines, said William Ross, manager for Miss Anglin, are not in the text of the piece. Nor only have they been applauded here in Boston, but the same response to the sentiment they express has been elicited in Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, Brooklyn, New York city and other places.

About Plays That Continue.

Globe Theatre

Mrs. Eva Fay won even more confidence and approval from her audience at the Globe Theatre last night than last week.

"A girl in the balcony whose name is Bertha" is thinking "Does a certain man care for me, or is he handing me a bunch of hot air," announced the sharp voice through the oriental silk.

And closing her tone to one of kindly counsel, she added, "Don't trust him too much, Miss Bertha. You are sincere, but he's only a man."

"You want to know where you live, Barnard Cohen," she said. "You don't always know, but to-night you will go to Shirley Hold street, No. 28, to-morrow, Barnard, and go to bed then a good night."

In serious tones remarks were delivered regarding the tracing of valuable jewelry, successes in business and health of friends.

Tremont Theatre

Next Saturday night will bring the engagement of "The Stolen Story" at the Tremont to a close. This is due to circumstances and not to waning interest, as Mr. Savage's summer show, "The Man From Now," is to open with a holiday matinee Wednesday of next week. "The Stolen Story" will end its season here and will go on for a run in New York in the Fall. The advance sale of seats for "The Man From Now" will open Thursday morning of this week.

Colonial Theatre

Grace George was greeted by a splendid audience at the Colonial Theatre when the final week of her engagement in "The Marriage of William Ashe" and the closing week of the present dramatic season at that house began. As Lady Ellis Asbe, Miss George has a part that suits her admirably, and her charming interpretation of the various scenes surprises all those who have considered her simply as a comedienne or an actress of society heroines. She proves herself to be a genuine emotional actress of unquestioned effectiveness.

Majestic Theatre

At the Majestic Theatre Margaret Anglin entered upon the last week of her engagement in "Zira" last night to a crowded house. This young actress has placed her name among the foremost American actresses by her remarkable interpretation of Hostor Trent in this revised version of Wilkie Collins' masterpiece, "The New Magdalen." Miss Anglin has also demonstrated that audiences are yet susceptible to the moving power of tears, and that the love for emotional acting only awaits the impulse of true genius to make it live again.

DOZEN FEATURE ACTS AT HOWARD

There are a dozen of the most entertaining acts in vaudeville at the old Howard this week. Myles McCarthy, Ada Woodroof and their company in the sporty skit, "Race Track Dream," is easily the feature of the big bill. Then come Sandy Chapman and Larry O'Connor with new songs; Redford and Winchester, jesters and jugglers; Keyes and Wilde, instrumentalists; Robinson and Grant, midget merrymakers; Sid Baxter and Beatrice Southwick in aerial bicycle stunts; Charles H. Duncan in minstrel songs; Lew Morgan, the Dutch comedian; L. Leslie Irons and company; the Kazarts; Dynes and Dynes and the burlesquers in "No Matches Needed," with George B. Alexander.

NEW ATTRACTIONS FOR THE SUMMER

It would be hard to imagine a more welcome attraction for a Summer season at the Colonial Theatre than Richard Carle in his own opera, "The Mayor of Tokio." It was one of the merriest shows of the Winter and closed its engagement here at a time when its popularity was at its height.

The latest engagement for the Summer opera season at the Castle Square, which begins a week from next Monday evening, is that of Otis B. Thayer, a clever comedian who possesses a fine baritone voice. Mr. Thayer has been starring in "Sweet Clover."

"Buster Brown," with "Tige" and a big company will come to the Globe for a week, beginning next Monday afternoon. Boy and girl friends of "Buster" will receive a "Buster Brown picture hook free" on calling at the Globe ticket office on Thursday of this week, between 5 and 6 o'clock p. m.

IS 'YOUNG FERNALD' A MAN OR WOMAN?

Is "Young Fernald" a man or a woman?

This is the question which is agitating playgoers this week, whenever they discuss the play written by Mrs. Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland and Beulah Dix, which is to have its first performance on any stage at the Majestic Theatre next Monday evening. It is known that Miss Anglin is to interpret the title role, but neither she nor Henry Miller will state whether "Young Fernald" is a man's or a woman's name.

"ALL UP" FOR CRAIG AT EMPIRE THEATRE

It was "All up for John Craig" at the Empire Theatre yesterday, for this very popular leading man made his first appearance at the head of the Summer company at this theatre, playing the part of Craig created by William Gillette in his "Too Much Johnson." Mr. Craig was given a real ovation when he appeared.

Katherine Grey, Mary Saunders and June Brooks were each excellent in their respective roles, and William Humphrey, William Evarts and Bertram Yost, with the rest of the cast, afforded unusually good support.

CHARLOTTE HUNT ACHIEVES AMBITION

Charlotte Hunt achieved her ambition last evening and played the role of Portia in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice." This role has been assigned to her several times in this city this season, but invariably has it been given a matinee performance and a minor role interpretation. Miss Hunt has a willingness to please her audiences that contrasts well with the cool dignity which some actresses assume. In fact, Miss Hunt demonstrated that she has a remarkably strong conception of the true feeling which underlies the character of each character as Portia. Henry Alexander was the Shylock, a role not as strong as that of Portia's malfeasitteous, but most acceptable.

WOODLAND PLAYERS AT CHESTNUT HILL

No advance in price is charged for the seats for the open air performances of Ben Greet and his Woodland players on the grounds of Mrs. John Lowell, Chestnut Hill, which are now on sale at Hug rack's. Two worthy charities are to be benefited by Manchester House for Colored Women and Children, and the Massachusetts Infant Asylum. The plays will be "As You Like It," May 28, afternoon; "Twelfth Night," May 28, evening, and "Much Ado About Nothing," May 29, afternoon, and "Midsummer Night's Dream," May 29, evening.

AGA FLOATS ALONG EASILY IN THE AIR

There is variety enough to please every one at Austin & Stone's this week. The bet included is the European mystery, who floats in the air without apparent support. Rosen, the mind-reading horse; Banjo, the big bull; Lieutenant Walter Sands, the swordsman; Oklahoma Bill; Ben Hur, the mammoth smoke; and in the theatre, the "Minstrel Maids," and a big olio, including Ferris and Fay; the Dawsons; Lewis and Leonard and Bastedo, Cutler and Graham and James and Richards.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.50 SHOES FOR MEN

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.50 SHOE STORE
ESTABLISHED 1876 CAPITAL $2,500,000
W. L. Douglas makes and sells more men's $3.50 shoes than any other manufacturer in the world.
$10,000 REWARD will be paid to any one who can disprove this statement.
THE WORLD'S GREATEST SHOEMAN
BEST SHOE IN THE WORLD

$3.50 ALL LEATHERS, ALL STYLES, ONE PRICE $3.50

If I could take you into my three large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you the care with which every pair of shoes is made, you would understand why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best in the world, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater value than any other $3.50 shoe.

"DOUGLAS SHOES WEAR WELL."

"A few years ago I bought a pair of your $3.50 shoes, which have worn constantly since, and they are now in condition for two months more wear."
D. F. DUELING
46 Harvard Street.

BOYS SHOES, $2.00 & $1.75
Just the same as my men's $3.50 shoes, the same leathers, for $2.00 and $1.75.

CAUTION.—None genuine without W. L. Douglas name and price stamped on bottom. Take no substitute. Sold by W. L. Douglas exclusive shoe stores in the principal cities, and by the best shoe dealers everywhere.

Fast Color Eyelets used exclusively. Catalogue mailed free. W. L. Douglas Brockton, Mass.

W. L. Douglas $3.50 Shoe Stores in Boston:
635-637 Washington Street, 201 Washington St., cor. School. 115-117 Summer St., cor. Lincoln. 32 Court Street, cor. Howard. 150 Hanover Street

IF YOUR DEALER DOES NOT HANDLE
OLD CROW RYE
GO TO SOME ONE WHO DOES
PURE—OLD—MELLOW.

H. B. KIRK & Co., Sole Bottlers, NEW YORK.

Distillery, FRANKFORT, Ky.

COLUMBIA SHOW FULL OF REAL COMEDY

Full of ginger and good comedy is the entertainment of the "Innocent Maids" burlesque company at the Columbia this week, and it did not take yesterday's audience very long to find out that they were "up against the real thing" in an up-to-date burlesque show. The comedians were a jolly set, and the girls pretty and dainty. In the olio Williams and Dorsoch, singers and dancers; Ale Lewis, in character imitations; Minnie Alcone and Edythe Hamilton, in song and comedy; Gracie and Reynolds, in a little of everything, all made good. Eugene Jerger's illustrated songs and the ing pancing set of the Evening Brothers also were

AMUSEMENTS.

TREMONT THEATRE Evgs at 8:15
LAST WEEK.
THE STOLEN STORY
The Great Newspaper Play
By JESSE LYNCH WILLIAMS.
Matinees Tu-morrow and Saturday at 2
FIRST TIME—MATINEE MEMORIAL DAY
HENRY W. SAVAGE offers
HARRY BULGER IN
THE MAN FROM NOW
SEATS READY THURSDAY

American League
Huntington Avenue
TO-DAY AT 3:30
LADIES' DAY
DETROIT
Prices—$1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c.
WRIGHT & DITSON, 344 Washington St. BERRICK'S, Copley Square.

EMPIRE THEATRE Tel. 424 3
New Empire Stock Company
TODAY AT 2 and 8 P. M.
TOO MUCH JOHNSON
25c, 50c SECOND BALCONY 10c
All Seats Reserved—Nothing Higher.
Seasons Sale of Reserve Chairs now on sale. Reserved Seats, to all parts of Mat. and Eve. today. Mat. 28—"Mrs. Dane's Defence."

COLUMBIA THE INNOCENT MAIDS
Smoking Allowed Daily Mats 25c

GLOBE Eve. Prices 25—50—75
25c Mats. Wed., Thurs., Fri. & Sat.
Last Week John T. & Eva FAYS Families Only Thurs., Fri. Mats.
Next Mat., M. R. Raymond's "Boston Boys."

LYCEUM TRANS-OCEANICS
Daily 2:15 & 8. Orchestra Seats 25c. Tel. 712 Ox.

PALACE
English Gaiety Girls
Matinees Daily
Prices 10c. to 50c

AMUSEMENTS.

Delight Barsch and the Broomstick Witches
The best Vocal and Dancing Novelty in Vaudeville at Keith's This Week
Great Surrounding Bill.

Castle Sq.
Down-Town Office, 12 Winter St.
TODAY at 2 and 8 P. M.
Christopher, Jr.
Prices, 10c., 25c., 50c., 75c., $1.
May 28—THE HILT.
MONDAY, JUNE 4
Season of Light and Standard Opera
Opening with "The Mikado."

COLONIAL THEATRE
LAST WEEK. To-night at 8.
GRACE GEORGE
In Margaret Mayo's Adaptation of Mrs. Humphry Ward's Masterpiece
THE MARRIAGE OF WILLIAM ASHE
Mats. Wed. and Sat. at Regular Colonial Prices. Next Week—Mr. and Mrs. Fiske.

Mats. Tues. & Thursday at Summer Season Prices. Richard Carle in Richard Carle's Own Opera
SEAT SALE THURSDAY, MAY 24
REGULAR COLONIAL THEATRE PRICES.

MAJESTIC
To-night at 8. Mat. To-morrow.
LAST WEEK
MARGARET ANGLIN IN ZIRA
NEXT WEEK
MARGARET ANGLIN HENRY MILLER
In Young Fernald.

HOWARD TO-DAY 1 to 11 P. M.
Four Howard Bicyclegirls, including Gros, Blanchard, in "The Daisy Sisters," at 2:45 and 8 P. M. Myles McCarthy and Co., Redford and Winchester, Sandy Chapman, Newell and Niblo, and Baxter and Southwick.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE
Every Evening at 8.
MERCHANT OF VENICE
Any Seat in the House 25c.
Next Week—"Big Hearted Jim."

WHOLE WORLD OF SPORTS COVERED FOR THE BOSTON AMERICAN BY ITS CORPS OF EXPERTS

HARVARD VARSITY OARSMEN ARE ROWING WELL AND THEIR ADMIRERS HOPE THEY'LL WIN FROM CORNELL

Rowing in the old order in which up to last week they had been practicing daily for the past two months, the Harvard oarsmen yesterday began the finishing strokes for their big race to be rowed with Cornell on the Charles on Friday of this week. The reappearance of Phil Flint at bow did a great deal to restore confidence to the Crimson oarsmen, during all last week there was some question as to Flint's ability to row against Cornell, but last Friday this was set aside by Professor White, so that practically the regular line seat at bow. This makes it certain that Harvard will row in the following order against the Ithacans: stroke, Captain Filley; 7, Newhall; 6, Bacon; 5, Richardson; 4, Glass; 3, Toppan; 2, Fish; bow, Flint.

The Race With Cornell.

The race with Cornell is one of the big athletic events of the year for Harvard and speculation is running rife among the Cambridge undergraduates as to what chance the Harvard combination has against the speedy Cornell aggregation. Basing comparison on the race of last year, Harvard has absolutely no chance at all but such a comparison would be obviously unfair. The terrible downfall of the Crimson in that race was due to an inexperienced stroke and number seven who went to pieces after a half a mile of the contest had been rowed. This will not happen this year as Captain Filley is a veteran stroke and Newhall, the present seven, has been rowing behind Filley for almost a year. In addition Newhall has not got the eccentricities in his style of rowing which Ernest George, number seven in the Harvard eight last year, was possessed of.

In their time rows recently the crimson eight has not made any phenomenal time, but the men have shown excellent form and are big enough to put the necessary power into their stroke when the time comes.

Five Veterans in Crew.

Five of the men who will row against Cornell are veterans from the eight which came so near defeating Yale last year. Filley, Newhall, Bacon, Toppan and Flint. Richardson and Fish are the pick of the 1905 champion freshman eight. Glass the other member of the crew is a 1905 man, who was prevented from bending down a seat in his class boat last year by sickness.

Those who witness the big contest on the Charles Friday are sure of seeing a lively fought battle, and the majority of Harvard men believe that their eight has a very good chance of surprising Cornell and winning the race. Last year the race was rowed in two streams, starting from the Cambridge Boat Club, but this year it will be pulled off down stream, the course running from the Longwood bridge to a flush opposite the Union Boat Club.

On the present occasion the men are to meet at weight, 159 pounds, at 4 o'clock, and this condition is upon the calculation of the wisest sports.

The weight may help one or the other, but which one it is hard to discover, in fact, the adherents of both men are claiming that the weight will benefit their favorite, and yet no one can be certain until the bout is on.

Deciding the New England featherweight championship, as their bout does, the winner will be a line for a contest against Abe Attell.

It will be a grand bout from start to finish, and should prove one of the most warmly contested bouts ever decided in Hebron.

WILL BATTLE AT LINCOLN A. C. BE KNOCKOUT?

It is surprising to note the number of people who believe that the battle at Chelsea Thursday night between Chester Goodwin and Boone O'Reig will be decided by a knockout. Their last contest, which ended in a draw, was one of the most interesting and hard-fought contests which have ever been pulled in Chelsea.

On the present occasion the men are to meet at weight, 129 pounds, at 4 o'clock, and this condition is upon the calculation of the wisest sports.

The weight may help one or the other, but which one it is hard to discover, in fact, the adherents of both men are claiming that the weight will benefit their favorite, and yet no one can be certain until the bout is on.

Deciding the New England featherweight championship, as their bout does, the winner will be a line for a contest against Abe Attell.

It will be a grand bout from start to finish, and should prove one of the most warmly contested bouts ever decided in Hebron.

DREAMWOLD DAY AT READVILLE HORSE SALE

READVILLE RACE TRACK, May 22.—Dreamwold Farm Day. This was the occasion that had been placed on the books to be sold at auction by the Fasig-Tipton Company, as the horses and dogs from that famous estate were to be put under the hammer. The number of horses that went under the hammer was only about the dogs introduced forth.

To the equine line there were 27 head of selected stallions and mares offered. Among these Mollusco, Leon, 2:13, and Dreamer, 2:14½, three well known trotters, and Lawson a world of money and it has been the wonder that he ever brought a cent. But the story is that all having a stock farm is obliged to dispose of some horses, or will be overcrowded by the influx of youngsters coming along every year. There were, too, a number of the best horse show horses at the farm getting the large prices for their bidders.

In the dog line Mr. Lawson was closing out all he had except a few pets. It's too well known to bear mention that the dogs from Dreamwold have been the largest prize winners in the shows of any exhibitor in the past few years. When the perfect specimens of bulldogs and Irish helms, Ruby and Prince Charles spaniels were brought on the dog fanciers fairly climbed over each other to catch Auctioneer George Bibb's eye, to have their bids noted.

HUGHEY CLANCY LASTED 7s.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—Hughey Clancy of Boston lasted 7 seconds with Jimmy Dunn of this place in what was to have been a ten-round fight. Both weighed in at 125 pounds. Dunn missed a left lead for the jaw and Dunn, crossing with his right, caught him on the chin, promptly putting him to sleep.

DINNEEN IN NO DEAL, MANAGER COLLINS SAYS

When questioned relative to the report from Washington that Bill Dinneen was to be traded to the Senators for Pitcher Case Patten, who is a left-hander, and utility Fielder Stanley, Manager Collins of the Boston baseball team said:

"There will be no deals or swaps while I have charge of the club unless I say so, and no deal has been made for Dinneen."

Collins was called to the telephone at the Copley Square this morning by a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter. When asked what he was regarding the club he savagely replied:

"Haven't you read the papers? They are running the show nowadays, or think they are. I have seen more bonehts of deals and the likes in the papers than you could shake a stick at. Where they are getting all the dope I don't know, as they never approach me to see that I go."

"If I was to follow all the advice in the papers Boston would be without a club. The team would be in the lead, instead of en joying last position.

No New Players in Sight.

Collins says that matters are at a standstill in regard to the acquisition of Catcher McFarland of the White Sox and Outfielder Hartzell of the Senators. No club has tried to procure Pitcher Norwood Gibson, who has been released by the club.

Bill Dinneen was surprised when the BOSTON AMERICAN reporter popped the question: "Are you going to quit the game?"

Big Bill was up in the air. He said he didn't even see a baseball in the morning papers, and dexterously with a shrug of his shoulder, which was as much as to say, 'You've got me this time.'"

The one topic of discussion at the Copley Square Hotel this morning was the slump of the Bostons.

Calls It Hard Luck.

Manager Armour of the Tigers said: "It's tough luck when a club loses as many games as the Bostons have on their home grounds. I can't understand their being so badly off, because they opened in good form in the 'Hub.' It's hard to get out of such positions once you get going. I feel sure that they will be able to put up as good a baseball exhibition as any club in the country. In fact, I have a hunch that the Bostons are going to take one of the games in the present series from us."

Jimmy Collins was amused this morning upon opening his mail to find a fresh rabbit's foot in one of his letters.

"This ought to chase away the hoodoo," suggested the Boston manager.

ENTRIES FOR SAUGUS MEET CLOSE JUNE 13

Manager Will Hitchings of the Saugus track is out with his announcement for the classic to be held June meeting, the 20th to 23d inclusive. With such early Spring the boys should be ready to go hunting for big money by that time.

This week Mr. Hitchings and Frank Dennis go to Norfolk, Va., where the Saugus boys will start their tax opens. The former intends to thoroughly advertise the Saugus dates down there and draw many of the trainers up North.

The classes for the meeting are as follows: Trotting, Free for all, 2:14, 2:16, 2:18, 2:23 and 2:30. Pacing, 2:09, 2:11, 2:14, 2:16, 2:19, 2:22 and 2:25. Entries close with Mr. Hitchings on June 15.

BIG RIDERS IN HOLIDAY RACE

May 30 will see the real opening of the cycle racing season in this section with a big meet at the Revere cycle track. The star attraction will be a special match race for championship honors between Bobby Walthour, the great Southern rider and ex-champion, and the champion of 1905, Hugh MacLean, the Chelsea paved artist.

Both men are in fine form and ready to put up the battle of their lives. The contracts of the riders call for a fight to the finish, and in case of accident to either rider up to the start of the last mile the race will be started over again in order that it may be decided on its merits.

J. B. Coffey, Denis Connolly and Patsy Logan are anxious to break into the paced ranks, and will be put on in a three-cornered affair behind the motors.

COACH WRAY.

ERNE WINS FROM KEYES

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Young Erne proved to be faster and more clever than Keyes, the Australian boxer, in a fast six round scrap at the Washington Sporting Club. Erne was entitled to the bout by better all-around aggressiveness, protection and boxing.

Left to Right—BLAGDEN, coxswain; FILLEY, stroke; NEWHALL, No. 7; BACON, No. 6; RICHARDSON, No. 5; GEARS, No. 4; Toppan, No. 3; FISH, No. 2; CORBETT, bow.

CAPTAIN FILLEY. BACON.

HARVARD VARSITY EIGHT, WHICH RACES CORNELL ON CHARLES.

In Second Setto Between Pilgrims and Tigers To-day

DINNEEN OR HARRIS WILL TWIRL

LINDAMAN TO TRY TO TURN THE TABLES

BATTING ORDER.

BOSTON.	DETROIT.
Parent, s.s.	Schaefer, 2b.
Stahl, c.f.	Coughlin, 3b.
Collins, 3b.	Cobb, c.f.
Freeman, 1b.	Crawford, r.f.
Godwin, r.f.	McIntyre, l.f.
Selbach, l.f.	Schmidt, c.
Ferris, 2b.	O'Leary, s.s.
Graham, c.	Warner, 1b.
Dineen, p.	Killian, p.

Either Bill Dinneen or Joe Harris will pitch for the Bostons to-day in the second game with Detroit, and Manager Collins probably do the box work for the visitors.

Killian is a formidable southpaw and has conquered the Boston team many times and says he feels in good enough shape to turn the trick to-day.

Joe Harris has done mighty good work in the few chances that he has got on the rubber, and should be able to give a good account of himself if need to-day.

Jesse Tannehill's ankle is in a plaster cast, and he will not be able to work for three or four days.

Unless all systems go wrong we have got to win to-day in the second game with the Tigers. Those seconds indicate a showing of the real form about which Hugo Bezdek is using and two games in succession lost by a single tally ought to put the local team on an edge to run away with the contest this afternoon.

The only trouble with Collins's men has been their failure to live up to any kind of dope and it looks as if they belong to the aged class, liable to pull off a trick but more liable to be distanced in the struggle.

A little more consistent ball playing would have beaten the Tigers in the first bout, or at least broken even and made it a walkup for Jack Coombs in the odd score.

The same old story of opportunities lost is getting worn out, yet it comes to the surface just as regular.

Lack of head work on the bases still pursues the members of the local club. They can't seem to gauge the distance the ball travels or calculate on a throw and what might be called desperate chances and what might be considered safe ones. Displays of wrinkleness that would cause any sane pitcher to lose control of everything else he possesses.

That the Tigers did not pile up a few more runs than they did in the first one was no fault of Captain Collins. He made three slippups, but only one resulted in a run, while he did some of the finest fielding stunts of the day. Probably that flyer to Lord Parent made a scramble for it the German reached the base.

Cobb rolled one at Ferris, who got his man but Jones went over the plate. Coleman things easy by attempting to steal and being nailed. Lindaman punished another two-bagger to left and McIntyre fanned.

After Coughlin went out in the second O'Leary was safe on Collins's bad throw to the base. Freeman made a try for home to take the ball on the bound and O'Leary tore for second. Ferris made a foolish muff of Schmidt's pop fly. Mullin bounded to Parent who threw him out. O'Leary got the run. Mullin took a chance with Graham's arm, but the latter nailed his feet.

Boston had a chance to score in the third. Ferris flied out. Graham got the first single, a drive to centre. Winter, to the surprise of the fans, played one nicely to left. Parent's grounder was fumbled by Schaefer and Graham was so far off third that he was caught on the line and run down, but Winter went to third and Parent stood on second. Then they remained, as Stahl was thrown out by O'Leary.

In the sixth the only run came. Parent got a life by Schaefer missing his grounder. Stahl was hit on the arm and walked. Collins cracked to centre and Parent scored. Stahl trying to make third on the hit and was caught, Cobb to Coughlin to Killian, Keen on to second but was left, as Selbach popped to Lindsay.

It looked like drawing up even in the ninth when Parent got a two-bagger after Winter fanned. Stahl missed the bounty third strike and Collins could not do better than go out, Mullin to Lindsay.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

Philadelphia	20	8	.714
Cleveland	16	9	.640
New York	14	13	.519
Detroit	14	13	.519
Chicago	14	15	.483
St. Louis	14	15	.483
Washington	11	16	.407
BOSTON	6	24	.200

ONE YEAR AGO TO-DAY.

Cleveland	14	9	.609
Boston	13	11	.542
Philadelphia	13	12	.520
Detroit	13	12	.520
Washington	13	13	.500
Chicago	11	15	.423
New York	11	15	.423
BOSTON	11	16	.407

GAMES YESTERDAY

At Boston—Detroit, 2; Boston, 1.
At Washington—Washington, 9; St. Louis, 3.
At New York—Chicago, 7, New York, 6.
At Philadelphia—Cleveland, 2; Philadelphia, 1.

GAMES SCHEDULED TO-DAY.

Detroit at Boston.
Chicago at New York.
Cleveland at Philadelphia.
St. Louis at Washington.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

HOW THE CLUBS STAND.

Chicago	23	11	.676
New York	21	11	.656
Pittsburg	17	15	.567
Philadelphia	17	15	.567
Cincinnati	15	18	.455
Boston	14	18	.500
St. Louis	11	17	.393
Brooklyn	9	24	.273

ONE YEAR AGO TO-DAY.

New York	23	6	.793
Pittsburg	18	12	.600
Philadelphia	14	12	.538
Chicago	14	13	.519
Boston	14	17	.452
St. Louis	11	17	.393
Cincinnati	10	17	.370
BOSTON	10	18	.357

GAMES YESTERDAY.

At Pittsburg—Pittsburg, 8; Boston, 0.
At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 6; Chicago, 0.
At Cincinnati—Cincinnati, 8; Brooklyn, 4.
At New York—New York, 7; St. Louis, 0.

GAMES SCHEDULED TO-DAY.

Boston at Pittsburg.
New York at Chicago.
Philadelphia at St. Louis.
Brooklyn at Cincinnati.

MURPHY PUT TUCKER AWAY

NEW YORK, May 22.—Tommy Murphy put Chick Tucker away in the fourth round of a six-round bout in the open air exhibition at Bay Ridge, Long Island, under the South Brooklyn A. C. A left hook to the wind and a fight to the jaw did the trick.

Special to the Boston American.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—Lindaman is slated to pitch for the Boston Nationals against the local champions this afternoon. The former Eastern League pitcher will find it hard work to down the locals, as they are now travelling a pretty swift pace, as they manifested in the recent series with the Giants and yesterday against the Pennsylvs.

Mike Lynch is hooked by the Pirates to drag the Bostons down to another defeat. Ed. Willis, the former Boston pitcher, was in great form yesterday, and while he washed his old team mates, 8 to 0. Opposed to him was "Little Cy" Young, but that twirler was batted all over the lot by Barney Dreyfuss's aggregation.

Not a Boston man was able to reach second base, while the Smokehousers batted Young for fourteen safe hits, one of which was a triple and two doubles.

MARRIOTT RACES AT READVILLE

BY J. C. KERRISON.

Fred H. Marriott, the man whose remarkable mile at Ormond last January created such a world-wide sensation, is to be one of the star performers in the coming Competition of the Bay State Automobile Association. Marriott's work at Ormond was second only to that of Demogeot in the mile event. When one comes to compare the work of both men throughout the meet it must be admitted that Marriott was a very close second performer than was the Frenchman. True, the latter was the first man to send an automobile two miles within the minute, but Marriott performed the same feat. Other than that, the New ton man captured the mile world's record, which, after all, is the one great point that the racing public most desires.

Marriott's entry was received yesterday, as it brought with it the statement that the car has come to drive is the latest Stanley creation, a car constructed for the coming Vanderbilt race. This car is greatly different from that used at Ormond. In shape it resembles in a small degree the English Napier. The boiler is in front, the engine is placed in much the same position as in the regular stock car, while the driver sits over the rear axle, and can reach so far down as to leave only his head and shoulders visible to the spectators. Although rated at only thirty-horse power, the car can, according to those who have seen it in private practice, do a mile fully as fast, if not faster, under similar conditions, as the record created on the seawashed course at Ormond. This car is reported for the free-for-all, and in addition will be sent a mile against the record by the referee at the track record to be held to occur. There are those who expect to see the mile made under Wells' Jay reduced. This is the first of the two Vanderbilt racers being constructed by the Newton builders. The second will be ready in a few days, and if it is possible to get it in shape for Memorial Day a match race at the Brockton track will drive one and a prominent amateur the other.

H. Ernest Rogers, the prominent Brookline amateur, whose work at the Atlantic City races proved him a driver that is lacking in neither nerve nor ability, is expected to get a wheel-to-wheel mile, yesterday authorized the BOSTON AMERICAN to issue a challenge to Rogers to meet any American car from special match race at the free-mile distance at the meet of the Bay State Automobile Association. Rogers says he will drive a steamer, but just what make and style, or what particular car he would not state. He is certainly after high game, and there are several gentlemen in this city who would take a chance and meet him in a special contest. If one-half the rumors now heard can be believed, there are several dark horses up to cover, any one of which may be let loose any moment. When they are, look out for trouble and some fast racing.

The latest change to be announced on the local automobile world is that of Edwin Saunders from the Bay State Automobile Company to the Buffalo Mechanical Company, which latter firm has just secured the New England agency for the Reo car.

E. H. Thomas, the head designer for the Reo Motor Car Company of Lansing, Mich., is the guest of Manager Linscott of the Linscott Motor Company, and has arrived in town from the factory to-day. Mr. Thomas will be remembered as the designer of the celebrated Pirate, which cleaned up everything at Ormond the first year the automobile races were run there. Mr. Thomas will be in Boston all this week, and will attend the hill climb in Worcester Thursday, having entered a two-cylinder Reo in the stock car events of the Reo class.

NO YALE CREW ON SCHUYLKILL

NEW HAVEN, May 22.—The Yale faculty to-day voted not to allow the varsity crew to row at the Carnegie Regatta on the Schuylkill at Philadelphia. It has made a conditional entry, and has talked of sending an eight to the races for the purpose of trying out a new stroke and some of the promising new candidates for the crew, but the faculty decided that the trip was an addition to the rowing season they did not care to make this year.

Captain Bonner and the crew will at once pick the eight and the four to row against Harvard on the Charles. They will leave here June 6 for the Thames.

GEORGE DIXON BACK IN RING

GLOUCESTER, May 22.—At the Gloucester Athletic Club George Dixon, the former featherweight champion of the world, met Billy Ryan of South Boston. The bout went twelve rounds to a draw! It being agreed that such should be the decision if both men were on their feet at the finish. Otherwise Dixon would have been given the decision, as he led all the way through and kept his opponent guessing most of the time.

GRIM KNOCKED OUT AT LAST

NEW YORK, May 22.—"Sailor" Burke of this city accomplished what a lot of other pugilists failed to do. He knocked out Joe Grim of Philadelphia in three rounds at the Remsen A. C., Brooklyn. After the sensational end to the mill Burke and Grim were both locked up by Capt. Shaw of the Adams street station for engaging in a prize-fight.

N. E. LEAGUE RESULTS.

Linn, 4; Fall River, 3.
New Bedford, 8; Lawrence, 4.
Haverhill, 2; Worcester, 1.
Manchester, 6; Lowell, 4.

COLLEGE GAME RESULTS.

Dartmouth, 2; Tufts, 1.
University of Chicago, 4; Northwestern, 1.
Mercersburg Academy, 2; Princeton, 1.

MIKE DONLIN BADLY HURT

Mike Donlin, the centre fielder of the New York Nationalsr has a worse injury than was supposed when he hurt himself while sliding in a game in Cincinnati last Saturday. Instead of ligaments in his ankle being torn, it turns out that Donlin's leg is broken, as was the bone that removed Donlin will be taken to New York, but it is doubtful if he will get in the game again this season. Donlin is a hard hitter, and his absence will handicap the champions considerably.

MEYERS WON HANDILY.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The six-round bout between Jack Meyers and Andy McGarry at the Marlborough A. C. failed to materialize, as the latter was unfit, so rather than disappoint the large crowd on hand Amby's brother Mike met Meyers. Mike is a clever fellow but against Meyers he seemed hopelessly outclassed. Meyers could have beaten him in decisive fashion and he desired.

TOKALON WON BIG HANDICAP

NEW YORK, May 22.—J. W. Fuller's Tokalon, a despised outsider at 25 to 1 in the betting, captured the Brooklyn Handicap at Gravesend Track from the second choice, Dandelion, with The Picket third.

Coming through a flying field with a splendid burst of speed, Tokalon, ridden by Bedell, almost a novice in the saddle, covered the mile and a quarter in 2:05 2-5, within five-fifth of a second of the record for the race, and in the gallant of drives, under whip and spur, nosed out the stout-hearted Dandelion in the run through the stretch.

HONEST WHISKEY
$2 PER GALLON
Right from the distillery in carload lots, bought low, sold low. It makes friends for the house. No charge for jug and box, put up in bottles if you want it.
Bottle of wine with each order this week.
Mail and express orders promptly filled.
LOS ANGELES CO.
84 and 88 Summer St., Boston.

NERVOUS DEBILITY
Lewis's shining mark. The most highly developed nervous system is often the one hardest hit.
I have cured so many cases and so rarely failed, that my methods are entitled to confidence.
This is true also of blood poisoning, stricture, gleet, varicose veins, local deformities, bladder troubles and all contracted diseases.
My equipment and methods will stand the most rigid test. I charge for cures—and simply for treatment.
Consultation confidential and free.
218 Tremont Street,
Next Hotel Touraine
Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.
Sundays 10 to 1 p. m.
DR. WEINSTEIN
Physician to Men.

MEN
By a Safe Painless Method
CURE
Blood Poison, Nervous Debility, Stricture, Weakness of Manhood RESTORED
Dr. A. Hargrove
The English Specialist
Hours daily 9 to 5. Sundays 9 to 3. Advice is Free. Consultation Letter, Free. 328 Tremont St. (Cor. Boylston St.), Boston, Mass.

BLOOD POISON
Either primary, secondary or tertiary, producing Sores, Ulcers, Copper Spots, Pimples, Boils, Aches, Old Sores, Ulcers, Mucous Patches, in mouth, throat, on any part of body, Hair or Eyebrows falling, Rheumatic Pains, Swellings, Glands or Testicles enlarged, Bones, Skin and Kidneys, Bladder troubles, Writing Spots before eyes, Sore Throat, Pimples, Eruptions, Ulcers, Scrofula, Scurvy, Itching, Blotches, Eczema, Rheumatism, Scabs and other treatments. Free information, and a bottle of Cuticura, Resolvent Pills to all sufferers. Address, Prof. F. C. FOWLER, New London, Conn.

ELECTRO-VIGOR
The only dry cell belt. Battery in the world. Always charging. Wears cheaper than trusses. Cures Lame Back, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Constipation, Prostration, Stomach, Bowel and Liver Troubles.
Write for our 96-page illustrated book, mailed free and sealed, for the asking.
DR. S. A. HALL, 127 W. 42d St., New York.

Boston American Daily Home Magazine

MAKE THE BEST OF THINGS

Just Look for the Sunshine Behind the Clouds

By Beatrice Fairfax

Be still, and heart, and cease repining;
Behind the clouds is the sun still shining.
Thy fate is the common fate of all.
Into each life some rain must fall;
Some days be dark and cold and dreary.
—Longfellow.

DISAPPOINTMENT, disillusionment and trouble are bound to come to us all.

We can't get away from our share of earthly ills, but there's no sense in sitting down and crying over them.

If we want to have any sort of life at all we must make the best of things.

We are altogether too much given to exaggerating our troubles.

So often that seems to be a mountain of trouble will resolve to nothing but a little molehill of worry.

And in the meantime we will have worn ourselves to "frazzles" worrying over it.

Things that seem terrible at nighttime are not so bad when faced in the morning.

Of course there are some troubles which must just be faced and accepted as our share of life's handicap.

But even they will not be helped any by nursing and brooding over. It is better to tuck them away in our hearts' deepest corner and only look at them when they fight their way to the front.

There is nothing so hard to fight against as heartache.

It throbs and throbs, and when you think you have conquered it it awakens and throbs more fiercely than ever. But time, that blessed healer, softens it eventually, and leaves nothing but an ugly scar to remind us of the pain.

If you have a trouble or a heartache to fight, keep at it unceasingly. Don't give way to it, nor encourage it for one moment.

Conquer it or it will conquer you and make you a miserable pessimist.

If you conquer you will be a better man or woman for the struggle.

The way is long and runs through the valley of tears, but the sun shines at the end of the journey. And it may be some comfort to know that there are thousands travelling the same weary way.

If the sun shone on us all the time we would be hothouse plants unable to stand the least breath of adversity.

It takes unhappiness as well as happiness to make us strong, brave men and women.

We must look for the sunshine behind the clouds and make the most of it, and when the days are "dark and cold and dreary" we must accept without complaint our share of life's bitterness.

If the Sun Shone On Us All the Time We Would Be Hothouse Plants, Unable to Stand the Least Breath of Adversity.

The Design, Use and Etiquette of the Japanese Fan

AMONG the scenes of unique interest which arrest the eye of the traveller in Japan one finds one's self well repaid for a visit to the fan makers. Few of those who visit the curio shops to purchase these gaudy trifles have any idea of the meaning of their pictures or the method by which they are made.

It is interesting to watch the operation of fanmaking from beginning to end, the splitting of bamboo, the cutting and pasting of delicate rice paper by the girls, the artistic, dainty picture painting, the finishing and packing.

They are sometimes inscribed with classic quotations, poetry, statistical tables, almanac lore, maps, pictures of noted places, and congratulations often these are made to depict life, customs, architecture in Europe, or even Yokohama, that city being the immediate link between the Japanese and foreigners. Thus are the fans in the household of which there are many, made to educate the family.

The design for the pictures on an ordinary flat fan is first drawn on thin paper, then pasted on a block of cherry wood and engraved; afterward printed from this by laying the fan paper on the block and pressing smoothly. Japanese books have been printed in this way for centuries prior to the late changes in the empire.

The variety of colors are put on with not infrequently as many as twenty blocks. Often the picture papers have the choicest of perfumes laid between them before being pasted on the frame, then finished with ivory handles, inlaid and gold lacquered.

Gentlemen of luxurious tastes have large collections of these refreshing trifles, with autograph inscriptions and tied in silk napkins.

pictures from celebrated artists. A very dainty custom in vogue is to exchange fans as people do photographs.

In this country the large flat fans are for the use of gentlemen, but in Japan it would be a dire breach of etiquette, as these are used exclusively by women. The gentleman always carries a folding fan in his girdle or bosom, usually elegantly decorated. If he is a scholar or author, when he invites his literary friends to his house, they must go prepared to inscribe this dainty bit of refreshment offered them on arrival. A rack of silver hooks or a tubular fan holder is found in every house of the least pretention.

Japan uses the fan for a great variety of purposes; made of stout paper to winnow grain, for dustpans and charcoal fire blowers; of waterproof paper for dipping in water, and as a vaporizer for producing extra coolness to the face.

There are double-winged fans for the bashful, who makes a butterfly of paper flutter up the edge of a sword; for the pedant at a wedding manufactures for the dancing girl, who makes her fan a part of her own graceful motion and classic pose. In charming grace of manner the Japanese are unequalled, and secret, though indecorous, love is expressed in artistic use of the fan, till consummated by openly avowed attachment.

As tokens of good feeling and polite attention, visitors are not infrequently the recipients of costly fans from their Japanese friends. On a certain special occasion, accompanying an invitation to dinner, tied with daintiest silk cord, on perfumed paper, was a tray of confections and sponge cake. In a lacquered box of exquisite make, and a case of three rare, painted fans, each

Cook Rice as the Southerners Do It

RICE, properly cooked, is beautiful, nutritious, and tempting; but you never see rice properly cooked except in the South, and not always there. You have to learn how first, and then, like all things learned, it is as simple as boiling a kettle.

The best rice for table use is known as Carolina rice and grows in the Carolinas and Georgia. East Indis—or Rangoon—rice is a small, dark grain, that never swells much, and is harder to cook than native rice.

A pint of raw rice is plenty for a dish for eight people. Pick it over carefully to remove all seeds, bits of grit, or weevils that may be in it. Then wash it in plenty of water several times, rubbing it well between the hands to free it from any dousse or starch. When the last water is perfectly clear, the rice is ready to be cooked by one of these three methods:

The Old Fear Way—When the rice has been washed, measure just as much cold water as there is rice. Put both into a thick saucepan or iron pot, and set it on the fire. Salt it to your taste first; let it boil until all the water disappears from the top; watch it to see that it does not burn; then take off the pot or saucepan, and draw out the coals from the front of the hearth of the stove and put the pot of rice on them; cover it closely, and let it steam until the rice dries out and swells. When it is done every grain ought to be full apart, and be white and double its original size.

The Southern Carolina Way—Have a pot of boiling water on the fire, salted as you like; two quarts at least of water to each pint of rice. About fifteen minutes in cold water and then throw it in the pot of boiling water. Let it boil hard for ten minutes, or until there is no hard centre left in the grain when you mash it between your fingers. Stir it several times as it boils. When the grain is soft pour the rice into a colander, drain off every bit of the water, and set the colander, closely covered, in the oven of the stove for ten or fifteen minutes, or put the dish right into the oven cover it closely, and set it on the back part of the stove to dry and swell. The steam swells the grains very large, and when the rice is done every grain should be as distinct, though softer, than if cooked by the Cape Fear plan.

Add to your rice a little butter, a tablespoonful to a pint of rice, and season with salt and pepper. Then add a cupful of cream, or, if you have no cream, a cupful of rich milk, and heat it to the boiling point. Serve very hot.

THE PLAID SKIRT AND PLAIN COAT

Latest and Most Novel Fad for the Smartest of Afternoon Costumes

PLAID skirts and plain cloth coats are very new. One sees them in the smartest afternoon costumes.

This one is of a dark shade of gray liberty silk. The skirt is plaid in gray with black stripes.

The cut of this coat is particularly striking. It is in the Empire style which has become so popular this Spring.

The large trimmed hat is of a chocolate shade of brown, with brown velvet bows hanging almost down to the shoulder.

The most noticeable feature of the season's costumes is the fashion of wearing hats of a contrasting color.

Latest Plaid Skirt and Plain Coat

"SHADOWS OF NEW YORK"

By Sidney Warwick

CHAPTER XXX.—Continued

FREDDY'S eyes followed Blin. He had seen the comedy played a dozen times or more, but he had never enjoyed its repetition any the less on that account.

Mr. Bougelstein came up to Mr. Spence and Miss Telfini with his big, fugitive smile.

"Ah, Belle, my dear, I wanted to see you," he said, raising his silk hat, while Mr. Spence stared at him with a touch of jealousy in his old eyes. "You never extra special to-night, eh, I mean it? You looked very well in the piece, with that song 'such chic!' such audacity!' Even a blase, case-hardened habitue of the halls like myself felt carried away." Mr. Bougelstein had not been within a hundred yards of the music hall during Belle's turn. "Won't you introduce me to your friend, Belle—one old friend of yours to another. You never so honored me before, but I may be allowed the privilege of standing a small bottle in honor of the occasion, if your friend will permit it."

"Spence, this is Mr. Bougelstein; Bougelstein, Mr. Spence Gayton," gabbled Belle. "I don't care a tinker's cuss which of you pays, only I know my throat's as dry as a piece of blotting paper."

"How do?" said Mr Spence with an absence of enthusiasm.

"How do you do, Mr. Gayton?" said Bougelstein, effusively then, going closer to him, in a stage aside. "Wasn't Belle great to-night? Never saw her in such form. You've got good taste, sir!" with a knowing smile.

"Look here, I insist on paying, Belle's an old friend of mine. Ye, I know her as a kiddy so high. I feel like a father to her, and I insist. And I've done a lot of good pecuniss to-day."

"Then you shall certainly stand the fizz," cried Belle. "Hand to hear somprice's had some luck, because I and Spence have had a rank bad day. Some silly person at Spence's club put up the stiffer of the pikers. Not a single winner, I give you my sacred. Shocking, I call it."

"Better luck tomorrow," said Mr. Bougelstein consolingly. "Here's hoping you'll do as well to-morrow as I've done to-day! Oh, fine pecuniss, I tell you." Look here," he added quickly, as if on the impulse of the moment, "can do you think of this? He dived a finger and thumb into his waist coat pocket, and produced a ring in paper, which he handed to Belle. "I did so well that I've been extravagant for once; I bought this for my wife, Rachel. She's partial to diamonds, you know."

"Oh, what a beauty!" exclaimed Belle, "Isn't it, Spence? I'm going to try it on."

"Certainly, my dear; and between you and me, it'll look better on your hand than on Rachel's; her fingers are just a trifle fat." An excellent wife, my Rachel—but she hasn't got your hands, my dear."

Belle simpered and moved her hand to and fro, admiring the facets.

CHAPTER XXXI.

"The Mirror of the Moon"

"SPLENDID it looks on your hand! The fact is, I did not intend to buy it, only it was such a bargain," said Bougelstein, turning to Spence. "You are not a commercial gentleman, but you will understand you one sees a chance of getting such a magnificent article for next to nothing—in every city in the world, but in this commercial country, one can't say 'No,' eh? Besides, it is my Rachel's birthday—and to get such a ring for next to nothing!"

"Isn't it a duck of a ring, Spence?" cried Belle, artlessly. "I'm sure it looks a vigil better on my hand than it will on Rachel's."

Bougelstein chuckled.

"So it does, my dear; but Rachel is an excellent wife, and it is her birthday. I must be hurrying home to give her my present. How her eyes will sparkle—for it is a diamond of the first water, though I did get it for almost next to nothing."

And he drank off his champagne as if about to depart.

But the lady did not take the ring from her finger. She looked at it admiringly.

"Bother Rachel!" she cried, pettishly; "I wish I had a husband to bring me such presents! Isn't it a beauty?" She looked across at Spence.

"Sorry you have to, my dear, but you see, it's Isie, and I don't like to keep my Rachel waiting," said Bougelstein.

Mr. Spence was not without a dim suspicion that he was being "got at," and he was very much infatuated, and the glance from Belle's eyes decided him.

"It is there any reason why you should take it off, Belle?" he asked. "Perhaps Mr. er this gentleman may be inclined to sell the ring, since he possesses so fine a knowing nothing of it yet—"

"Oh, you silly!" Belle darted forward and kissed Spence's nose, leaving a smear of vermilion. "Will you sell it Bougelstein?"

Mr. Bougelstein shrugged his shoulders deprecatingly.

"But we will Rachel think if I bring her pendulums up to-morrow."

"Oh bother Rachel! How much did you give for it?"

"Two hundred dollars exactly—next to nothing for such a stone, Belle, as your friend here, who I am sure is a judge of such things, will admit. But I am afraid—well, there, you know I don't like to disappoint you, Belle! And, after all, it is always pecuniss with me—except ven I meet friends of course; for I like to meet old friends and forget pecuniss for a little time, you know that! with an arch look.

"Rachel shan't have that ring if I know anything," cried Miss Telfini, impulsively "Spence, have you your cheque-book with you? I can borrow a fountain pen for you from Mendoza, the agent over there. Spence will give you two hundred for it—won't you, Spence?"

Bougelstein laughed pleasantly, showing his white teeth.

"Come, my dear! Two hundred!" with a little deprecating shrug. "Ye, I gave that for the ring myself! if I am to disappoint my Rachel I must have my little profit—only a very little profit since it's between friends—but you know the price I come from, ha! ha! And the ring is worth much more than I gave for it. But—well, I don't like to refuse you anythings, Belle; I have known you since you were a little kiddy so high. Your friend shall have it, a bargain, for—let me have to see—two hundred and twenty—It's worth every pen hundred and twenty—It's worth every penny of three—but I have done good pecuniss to-day."

After a little more talk, and when the hallmarks and quality of the stone had been pointed out and the stones's beauty and brilliancy admired by the waiter, the agent's fountain pen was duly borrowed and Mr. Gayton's check book made its appearance. Belle and her admirer departed with the ring.

Bougelstein laughed as he put the check away in his inner pocket, and thought of the many and decidedly similar rings he had about him.

"Speak Out."

"Yon! Yat should we do if an epidemic was carry on all the swell mugs?"

Then he looked up and saw Delamere watching him with hungry eyes, and remembered that he wanted to see Freddy.

Bougelstein crossed over to where the other was standing.

"Well, Freddy, you haven't been doing anything lately, they tell me," he said, referring to Delamere's calling. "Thus bad, eh? S'help me, you don't look half the dash Freddy you was! You look as if you'd had that little cat Belle's slimmer. Fine stone it was, too," with a wink that might be intended as a comment on the quality of the diamond in question. "But I fear you are stony in another sense, eh? Ha, ha! Well, there is nothing like pecuniss for you too, if—"

"If what?" cried Delamere eagerly, as if the other paused, looking hard at him.

"Oh, nothing." And the man lowered his voice. "I was thinking of a big diamond belonging to a private gentleman that I've been lately in correspondence with. But, of course, I'm only joking. You wouldn't care to run a little bit of risk, eh—no risk at all for a clever chap like you, who's a bit of a lawyer, and artist in his way, eh? For big profits, eh, Freddy, my boy?"

Something Doing

Freddy knew Mr. Bougelstein—knew that behind the smiling, fat face there lurked the cunning brain of the man was feeling its way to some deep scheme "on the crooked," in which he was being asked to take a part. Diamonds—or to do with diamonds—diamonds were the luciness as well as the absorbing passion of Mr. Bougelstein's life. He talked diamonds, dreamed diamonds, diamonds.

"I should not be so informally mysterious, Bougelstein," Delamere cried. His was feeling a little irritable at Mr. Bougelstein's display of spirits that night, and though he was confident that the latter had come to see him on a deuility with the murdered dancer's husband he was always ready for the chance of a profitable venture. That it was to be on the quiet—cluttered less than nothing to Freddy. "I have nothing to do in the dark this time, you know me, and you can trust me. What are you driving at? Speak plainly, man."

TO BE CONTINUED.

Beauty and Health Rules for Children

THERE are several rules that should be observed for the health and beauty of any child. The first is to give it something to do. No child can play all day. There should be some kind of regular task. This will make the child beautiful as well as healthy. It will cultivate its mind and its body.

A healthy child should also have something to occupy its mind. It can, in addition to its regular tasks, draw on the wall or paper, have pictures on the wall of pretty things, play with handsome ex bruderies or train for eye by doing a little carving and painting. These are matters for the individual to decide. But a child should prove itself occupied if it is going to be healthy and handsome.

The little girl who is going to grow up to be a handsome woman should know early how to take care of her beauty.

She should know how to keep her teeth white. She should be carefully attended with the brush or with a soft cloth.

A little girl should early be taught not to make grimaces. The little girl who puts down one side of her mouth, as a child, will be very certain to do so as a woman. She must learn not to draw down one eye nor to pull her mouth askew.

The mouth of the little girl is generally too large. This can be remedied to a great extent by curving it and shrinking it. To shrink a mouth try the habit of puckering it a little; then lift the corners; then make the mouth bow; then try to make it a little more expressive. You can accomplish wonders with your mouth if you only try. But never forget—don't you—that it is fatal to beauty.

The little girl whose hair grows awkwardly upon her forehead can easily make her forehead look low. This is pretty fatal to beauty. Until it comes down in a small gold mine dealed. Remember that the hair grows from the roots. Then it will grow where you will.

The skin of the little girl can be kept white by very little massage. It should be rubbed with a soft cloth, gently at first, and through it were down. It should not be touched unless it is rough or red or hot.

But of the first sign of trouble there should be a very thorough moulded into large.

The hair of the little girl must be washed once a week. But not with soap and water. Any sort of heavy shampoo fluid should be gone over with a special shampoo which is made for washing the scalp until it is foamy. A cup of tepid water is then used to seal a pinch of borax stirred in it. With this the hair is wet thoroughly, and the scalp washed with plenty of warm water. So soap is needed ordinarily.

The shoes of the little girl should be large. It may be that big shoes wear rough places on the feet, but as a rule it is the right shoe that does the damage. The little girl's shoes should be long and just a trifle narrower than the foot as it rests upon the ground.

MAKE BREAKFAST HEARTY

"A LARGE proportion of intemperance in this, the land of stimulants," philosophised a physician, "may be laid to the light breakfasts eaten by most people.

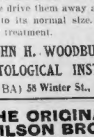
"Breakfast is the most important meal of the day, and sufficient importance is not attached to it in the majority of house holds," says an eminent physician.

"After the long fast enforced between supper or late dinner and seven or eight in the morning, a man in good health should feel hungry; and it is at this hour of the day the heartiest meal may be eaten with the best probability of bad results.

"The man who starts out in the morning after taking only a hearty breakfast will seldom, unless suffering from chronic indigestion, experience any of the discomforts which might follow a similar meal at any other time of day. The chances are he will also enjoy a happy frame of mind all day, whether he like exercise, he will find himself with an excellent appetite.

"Eating orgies sometimes. The very opposite results will follow the other course

RED NOSE



This affliction is not an indication of drink. Digestive troubles will cause a red nose more quickly than will alcohol. We make it a rule to remove the cause at once, after which the nose loses its redness and soon becomes natural in appearance.

In these chronic cases where the nose is filled with tiny red veins showing on the surface we can in a short time drive them away and bring the nose to its normal size. Call or write for treatment.

JOHN H. WOODBURY
DERMATOLOGICAL INSTITUTE,
(Dept. BA) 58 Winter St., Boston.

THE ORIGINAL WILSON BROS.
WATCHMAKERS
Jewellers, moved across the street from our old store next to the Big Tea Kettle, 33 Court St., five doors up for our friends. Whoops as happy interested in the Bakery st. store.

LAKIN'S HEDAKE KOLONE
10c Don't fill your stomach with 25c drugs, the air is full of them. Peppermint-flavored pellets which ruin the whole system.
LAKIN'S HEDAKEKOLONE cures quickly by pleasant inhalation age form of headache and leaves the clear headed and refreshed. Sold by the best dealers.
Boston, Mass.

Beautiful Song, 1 Oc.
"When My Little Dollie Died" is one of the prettiest pathetic child ballads we have ever offered. For deep pathos and touching sentiment it cannot possibly be equalled in the world. The sweet sentiment of the little girl and her broken doll are too delicate and refined to be explained in words. Purchasers will be delighted with the song. This regularly listed 50c, selection is printed in beautiful color, on choice postcard paper, and is a regularly copyrighted piece of music. We will, however, offer it at the special price of 10c. Remember, this is a bona fide 50c piece of music, and is only offered at this special price for a short time. Order this song by number, and you will receive it by return mail. Here are a few more of our 10c specials:
"Every Little Lady, Indeed I Do," (Beautiful) 50c
"Every Move I Bring Her Chicken" 50c
"You Got Me For an Over-coat" 50c
"Dear an Old Sweetheart of Mine," (Beautiful) 50c
"Dearest Song the World Has Ever Heard" .. 50c
"Lazy Mississippi Gazette (Piano) 50c
Place check opposite piece selected, fill out coupon, etc., and send, return to-day—10c.

COUPON.
AMERICAN MUSIC LIBRARY,
1780 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY.
Enclosed is $..... for which please send me piece for piece checked on at above, for which I have your special price for four.
Name .....
Street .....
City .....
State .....

Hearst's Boston American Pattern

LADIES' DRESSING SACQUE

WITH

Fitted Back

No. 2125F. New ideas for dressing sacques seem to come again, especially when one thinks of the lace creation data which are advancing swiftly. This model has a fitted back and is made in graceful fashion having a fitted back and side becoming softer collar. As illustrated, the model is developed in dark red satin-finished crepe de chine with lace insertion.

For a woman of 36 inches bust measure 4 yards of 27-inch or 3½ yards of 36-inch material are needed, also 2½ yards of insertion.

Cut in sizes 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure.

To obtain this pattern, mutilate send 10 cents and the number and name above to HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN PATTERN DEPT., P. O. Box 270, Boston, Mass.

No. 2.125F.

SIZE.....

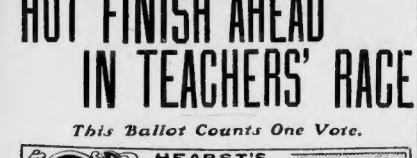
NAME.....

ADDRESS.....

EUROPEAN TOUR ELECTION

HOT FINISH AHEAD IN TEACHERS' RACE

This Ballot Counts One Vote.



Mail votes to the European Tour Editor, P. O. Box 5131, Boston.

The "finish" of the teachers' great European Tour Election, for which candidates and supporters are now hard at work, promises to be the closest ever seen in Boston.

There are but thirty-four more days before the forty tours in Europe and $1,500 in cash prizes will be awarded to the fifty lucky women school teachers by the HOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

The last day for voting will be Sunday, June 24.

The teachers elected to be New England's popular representatives abroad will sail away in two parties, on July 5 and July 11.

Undoubtedly the teachers who do the most effectual work in securing signatures to the Special Ballot orders for the delivery of the SUNDAY AMERICAN will capture the big prizes of foreign tours and sums of money.

The balloting yesterday showed only steady, moderate gains among the Greater Boston and Massachusetts division teachers, the returns from outsiders coming generally resting.

Miss Catherine Doran of the Holmes School, Cambridge, made a notable gain, bringing her over Miss Pillsbury, Waverly, and Sawin and Donovan in the Shakespearian Tour winning list.

CANDIDATES AND THEIR STANDING

Following is the list of teachers having 10,000 votes or more in the European Tour Election, arranged to show which candidates stand in the position of winners of the forty prize foreign trips. Record is kept of the names and votes of all teachers still entered.

The winners of the $1,000 in cash will be the six teachers having the highest total vote, regardless of location. The winners of the $500 in cash "consolation awards" will be the ten teachers polling the highest total votes and failing to win tours.

Boston and Metropolitan District.

GRAND TOUR.

Mary W. Hamilton, Eliot, Boston	283,161
Ebella E. Noble, Eliot, Boston	271,765
Anna L. Magner, Berry Mem. Wes. Rel. Inst.	241,511
Rachel Resnick, Lewis, Roxbury	238,311
Laura C. Lamprey, Winslow, Melrose	185,063

EUROPEAN TOUR.

Elizabeth G. Hutchison, Phillips, Boston	156,774
Susan B. Gould, Lincoln, Dorchester	153,045
Helen M. Cogan, Perry, Somerville	129,057
Ella M. Belcher, Normal, Framingham	128,437
Violet Crehen, Endicott, Dorchester	125,272

SHAKESPEARIAN TOUR.

Mary B. Tenney, Williams, Boston	124,582
Katherine L. Prescott, Elizabeth, Swampscott	119,988
Catherine Doran, Holmes, Cambridge	118,779
Elizabeth Pillsbury, Adams, East Boston	115,089
Mary E. Waverly, Lewis, Roxbury	114,662
Mary Mac Harrington, Quincy, Boston	110,241
Minnie E. Donovan, Lincoln, Dorchester	109,561
Madeline L. Ferguson, Washington, Boston	108,900
Elizabeth Rogers, Prescott, Charlestown	80,028
Helen Sinnott, Prescott, Charlestown	80,028

OUTSIDE THE TOUR LIST.

Sophie C. Tingley, Jamaica Plain, Boston	68,876
Madeline R. Driscoll, Lewis, Roxbury	68,288
Lucy Reed, Washington, Roxbury	68,288
Mary T. Rouse, Bradstreet Ave., Beachmont	49,206
Addie R. Creenan, Prescott, Malden	44,958
Agnes M. Sullivan, Bigelow, Newton	43,992
Grace E. Gardner, Brimmer, Boston	37,851
Susan B. McDonald, Lincoln, Dorchester	37,851
Gertrude W. Simpson, Marlboro, Dorchester	31,100
Jessie L. Mayo, Quincy, Boston	30,640
Ida H. Page, Quincy, Boston	29,232
Lillian Lewis, Lincoln, Dorchester	17,043
Frances P. Newcomb, Shaw, Roxbury	16,601
Mabel C. Allen, Prescott, Charlestown	13,911
Lena Gass, Macdonald, Malden	12,549
Mary J. Devine, Bigelow, Newton	12,312
Ethel J. Weeman, Bradlee, Boston	10,174

Massachusetts Outside Boston.

GRAND TOUR.

Nellie P. Billeman, South High, Worcester	537,001
Alice M. Barrett, Jackson, Northampton	497,497

EUROPEAN TOUR.

Elizabeth Shaw, Lamartine, Worcester	408,372
Annie V. McGourty, Howard, Worcester	381,714

SHAKESPEARIAN TOUR.

Lauren Teasdale, Walnut, Clinton	210,147
Jane A. O'Hara, Main, Fall River	208,626
Nellie G. Cornell, Normal, East Bridgewater	207,186
Nellie M. Donovan, Bigelow, Brockton	242,106
Mary E. Sullivan, Millbury, Worcester	206,610
Margaret G. E. Lee, Swansea, Worcester	206,516

NEWS OF LABOR.

Sheet Metal Workers' Union No. 17 unanimously rejected the compromise proposition of $3.50 as a minimum scale by the Metal Ceiling Association at last night's meeting. The union scale calls for a minimum wage of $3.60 after August 1, the present minimum being $3. One of the largest firms in the city, it was reported, had already signed the new agreement. A special meeting of the metal ceiling workers was called for next Friday night at Paine Memorial Hall to act in conjunction with the executive board.

Word was received from General Organizer J. J. Downey of Kansas City that he would be in Boston in a week or two to take hold of the situation regarding the enforcement of the new wage scale. Resolutions were passed deploring the death of George E. McNeill as a severe loss to organized labor.

HONOR DEAD LEADER.

Metal Polishers, Platers and Buffers' Union No. 95 passed the following resolutions on the death of George E. McNeill at last night's meeting:

Resolved, that we, the members of Metal Polishers, Platers and Buffers' Union No. 95, hereby tender our most heartfelt sympathy to the family of our staunch advocate of labor, George E. McNeill.

Resolved, that copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the bereaved family and to our official journal for publication.

The resolutions were signed by Daniel M. Cronin, Arthur Brunell and Richard Burke.

All the concerns except one in the chandelier industry, it was reported, had granted the request for an increase, under the $2.75 a day, an increase of twenty-five cents over the old minimum. One candidate was initiated.

BLACKSMITHS' COUNCIL.

Following the lead of Ohio, New York and Illinois, plans are being made by Boston Blacksmiths' Union for a territorial council in Massachusetts, to include thirty-two locals and a membership of 6,000. The territorial council will have jurisdiction over blacksmiths within a radius of seventy-five miles of Boston.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

A $35 BANJO, with leather case, 30 selection, $22. S. M. W., Cliftondale, Mass.

THE BALLROOM.

PROF. ELYE, 646 Tremont st.—Six lessons in private, 2 class), $2. Call evenings, 7 to 8.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

PIANOS FOR SUMMER HOMES

In our stock of second-hand square, grand and upright pianos we have many pretty and desirable ones for summer homes at $10 $20 $30 $50 $75 and $100

EASY TERMS IF DESIRED

These prices and values are such that no one who really enjoys music needs to be without it through the summer months.

HENRY F. MILLER & SONS PIANO CO.

395 Boylston St.

ALSO—A nice Square Piano with Piano Player at $150 for the combination.

ROXBURY STORAGE SALESROOMS

SACRIFICE PIANO SALE

Rogers' Upright	$47.00
Steinway Piano	40.00
Vose Upright	67.50
Gilbert Upright	37.50
Merrill Upright	114.00
Ivers & Pond Uprights	100.00
Chickering Upright	85.00
Chickering Upright	75.00
Vose Upright	62.50
Hallet & Davis	87.50
Kranich & Bach	70.00
Briggs' Upright	65.00
Chickering Upright	37.50
Ivers & Pond	115.00

Before buying this make nowhere come here for prices.

$5 DOWN, $1 PER WEEK

The list of pianos must and will be sold at the Roxbury Storage salesrooms to satisfy no regard to accounts, hence every standard make on hand, including Knabe, Ivers & Pond, Hazelton, Chickering and Merrill, are in mahogany and walnut cases, 7 octaves and 3 pedals, condition your money for your reasons why, expenses in Roxbury hardly noticed. Pianos in Boston sold, delivered free. Chickering and Vose make to order from good upright $400, $500 and $600 pianos, worth $450 and $550. Don't buy a piano until you see these pianos, the stock of a first-class piano house to be sold at a sacrifice, don't fail to call and examine our greatest chance ever offered; the cost is nothing to see and money to spare will run to keep away from us reason why, we don't pay cost of advertising, we get the benefit by our low prices for yourself, examine our nice stock.

Rogers Upright Piano, $47.00. Easy terms to installments, their high salaried sales agents, their high rents, their losses by bad accounts, their commissions they have to pay. Take the trouble to call and see these pianos, they are worth your time and money.

Why pay $200 more for a piano because it is on Why pay $200 more for a piano because it is on sale at the closest possible prices and on very easy terms, 10 years' guarantee, stool and cover with every piano; free delivery everywhere in unmarked vans; no publicity; private entrance; all pianos are refunded; entrance will be where you see the red flag; open evenings until $:30; Sundays 10 to 1. ROXBURY STORAGE SALES ROOMS, 2,000 Washington st., Roxbury; any Washington st. car to cor. Williams st.

A MAN ONCE SAID

He would some day own a Piano, but he always put it off with the idea he could not afford it, etc. Now, if we can show you a plan whereby by the outlay of a few pennies a day you may possess one of the best pianos in the world, would you try it? If so, and you want further particulars cut out this coupon.

Cut out and mail the coupon TODAY.

The Wood Piano Co.,
180 Tremont St.,
Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: Please send me further information as to how I may become a member of your Piano Club. Also send your catalogue, price, terms and all particulars.

Name .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

WOOD PIANO CO.

180 Tremont St.

SUMMER RENTAL, $10-2 months, and $3 each month after that; new upright piano, only $175. Rent $10 to buy for your camp. BLAKE'S, 1048 Washington st.

SEVERAL bargains in stylish used upright pianos, worth $250 to $300, at $150 each; easy terms. Call this week; signed. Don't fail to see our store. BLAKE'S, 1048 Washington st.

LUDWIG, Schubert, Winter, Krell, Neale & Evans, Smith & Barnes; new; also some slightly used; $150 to $300; easy terms. Call or send for it. BLAKE'S, 1048 Washington st. Established 1850.

BUSINESS CHANCES.

FOR SALE.

MACHINE SHOP—Wm. Kemble st., off of Hamilton; office hours from 7 to 1:30. Roxbury Crossing.

$150 VARIETY STORE—Little gain; rent $12; 3 living rooms; chance of lifetime. Bleached 820 Washington st.

$250 LUNCH ROOM—Busiest place in Boston; a valuable business. Bleached 820 Washington st.

$300 EMPLOYMENT and real estate office; half interest; after 10 a.m. 1048 Washington st.

FOR SALE—20-room lodging house; corner; 2 baths; hot water; nicely furnished; terms reasonable; owner must sell. Inquire 1048 Washington st.

FOR SALE—Grocery store; No. 1 location; cheap. 1048 Washington st.

BOARDING and lodging house, suburban; cars, 20 rooms; nicely furnished; rent $60; price $1,000; owner must sell; bargain. 1048 Washington st.

FLAMENDON ST.—Lady leaving city; 9 rooms; all modern conveniences; rent $30; will take $25 to right party. ATWATER & WRIGHT, 1048 Washington st.

GOOD CHANCE for a man or woman in a small restaurant; owner has other business. Inquire 1048 Washington st.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WEST END DISPENSARY

No. 4 Emerson st., near end of Cambridge st. All who desire free medical treatment call 9 a. m. to 12 p. m. to 8 p. m. Sundays 10 to 1. Open saturday till 9 p. m. Medical staff of eight physicians, including BLOOD POISON SPECIALISTS. No students. All diseases of men and women treated. Call or write.

EYES TESTED FREE. Pair $6 glasses, $3.50. DR. J. H. CRIVELLI, 125 Washington st.

DR. LOU, Eyes-hearts Brunswick, test bending; all reasonable. 9 Zeno, Boston American.

PHYSICIAN DR. JAMES C. ADY, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury, specializes in male and female diseases; coms. free; special appointment by mail or letter; professional references cheerfully observed. 1226 Berkeley st., Boston.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES.

FOR SALE—Horse, new depot wagon and bar ness; also team from Massachusetts; must be sold at once; will be sacrificed; weighs about 1900 pounds; 6 years old; sound and kind; also new depot wagon, all glass, made to order; harness also made to order; will be sacrificed; must be sold at once; can be seen at 1048 Washington st., Roxbury; any Washington st. car to cor. Williams st.

$1,250. Write for particulars to Box PP, Attn Boston American.

INFORMATION WANTED.

INFORMATION WANTED of James Rooney of Syracuse, N. Y., when last heard from was to Troy, N. Y.; his sister, Mrs. Mary Rooney, Boston, Mass., desires will kindly communicate with PATRICK RHANEY, Edgewater, N. J.

DIVORCES without courtesy knowing, quickly; no fee; private; advice free; everywhere; 9th year. LAWYER C. C. ALLEN, 4 Court st., Boston.

MISSING PERSONS found in all parts of the world. Address Lock Box 3716, Boston, Mass.

SEWING MACHINES.

GOING DOWN EAST, our, Singer, $5, 295 Broadway, suite 2, Somerville, after 6 p. m.

SINGER $20 up; $2 down, $1 week; 361 Broadway, cor. Bow; Bunk's lunch room.

SINGER $10 up; $2 down, $1 week; all attachments $12. 145 Pearl st., Somerville.

POULTRY, PIGEONS, ETC.

FOR SALE—At a sacrifice if sold this week, 150 laying hens; also brooders, incubators, etc. Call or write, 1048 C. L. MAYER, 500 Central st., Saugus, Mass.

BROOD of ducks, hen and chicks, cheaper than coops. 9 Zeno, Boston American.

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—At Cobb's ballroom or on return to Boston on tunnel, a Theta Delta Chi fraternity pin, with jewels; name and diamond; owner's name. Reward. Call and collect engraved on back. Between 2:30 and 4 p. m. Monday, May 21. Return 688 5th st., South Boston and receive reward.

LOST—Gentleman's locket in shape of quotation mark; engraved; reward. Return Dealey Realty Co., 1048 Washington, Saturday morning. Keepsake. Initials V. H. Two pictures in locket. Finder will be rewarded by returning to J. W. B., American.

LOST—Saturday, B. T. maxi dog, brindle and white; answers to Bill; $5 ball; to take no other. Return to 688 5th st., South Boston and receive reward.

MUSIC.

BOSTON MUSICIANS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION—Local No. 9, A. F. of M. Headquarters 64 Federal st.

WANTED.

WANTED—Care of an invalid; lady of nursing; pleasant rooms. 116 West Newton st.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.

A PIANO FOR $5 DOWN AND $5 A MONTH

Is the easiest way to own one. Call and see our stock of second-hand pianos, which we are selling at prices that will surprise you. Every piano guaranteed as represented and fully refunded; entrance will be where you see the red flag; open evenings until 8:30; Sundays 10 to 1. ROXBURY STORAGE SALES ROOMS, 2,000 Washington st., Roxbury; any Washington st. car to cor. Williams st.

REAL ESTATE.

BIG SACRIFICE.

29 LOTS land, near everything; 100,000 ft.; must be sold; will take $1,000 for the lot; $50 balance easy terms; here is a chance to double your money; write or call. BLAKE'S, 1048 Washington st.

FOR SALE—Brick, Anchorage, room 1, Baker Block, Milford, Mass.—41 choice homesites, Washington, Hawthorne, Prospect, Adams, Lincoln, Baker, Harvard and Lake streets; also Lake square. Here is a great opportunity for building; terms reasonable; size of lots 50 by 100 feet; subscription price $100 to $150; after May 20th, at 2 p. m., the price will be $200 to $250; this is a rare chance for investment or for summer residence; lots are desirable. Don't let this opportunity slip by; lots will be sold at a sacrifice; don't fail to call and see for particulars after this sale or telephone for particulars. Call at office, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

SUNNY HOUSE for sale at Ashmont, in a desirable location; 8 rooms; a very nice house; newly painted, from attic and sunny sun parlor; cash or mortgage. C. H. BUSH, 1048 Washington st.

BARGAIN—For sale at Everett, four-family house; never before assessed valuation, well rented, always full; will be sold at a sacrifice; must be sold; $1,000 less than low price. FRED'K W. WEBBER, 73 Court st.

FOR SALE—In Roxbury, two-family house, to suit residential section, on Brookline line; 7 rooms and bath; first floor steam and private rear entrance; lot 50 by 100; owner wishes to dispose of same and will sell at low price. For all information address T 296, Boston American.

NEARLY FAINTED—Seven rooms, 2 rooms and bath; hot and cold water; gas, sewer; stable and carriage house; $700 for this; $100 down, $10 month. Mat 25, at 2 p. m., assessed $2,600; easy terms; Brookline line. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

FLAT HOUSE, near Howard av., price $2,800; good investment. POWER 175 Blue Hill av., Roxbury.

FOR SALE—Cheap, second hand boatman' garden, 30x 432 Colonial bldg., Boston.

MEDICAL.

E. T. THURLOW, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
Specialist in

Male and Female Diseases.

22 years' practice in Boston. Office hours, 9 to 12 noon, 3 to 8. 230 Tremont st., Boston.

PHYSICIAN DR. JAMES C. ADY, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury, specializes in male and female diseases; coms. free; special appointment by mail or letter; professional references cheerfully observed. 1226 Berkeley st., Boston.

J. S. Waterman & Sons
Incorporated.
Funeral Undertakers and Embalmers
383&5 and 2022& Washington St.,
Adjoining Dudley Street Terminal.
All modern conveniences, including motor car, fireproof, private funeral parlors, chapel, conservatories, morgue, crematory. Tel. Roxbury 72 or 73.

Memorial Day FLOWERS
NEW AND DESIRABLE DESIGNS
J. NEWMAN & SONS, 51 Tremont Street

LOST AND FOUND.

LOST—Gentleman's locket in shape of quotation mark; engraved; reward. Return Dealey Realty Co., 1048 Washington, Saturday morning. Keepsake. Initials V. H. Two pictures in locket. Finder will be rewarded by returning to J. W. B., American.

LOST—Saturday, B. T. maxi dog, brindle and white; answers to Bill; $5 ball; to take no other. Return to 688 5th st., South Boston and receive reward.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

$1 a WEEK
Pays for Boston shorthand, at a stenographic, at FRANKLIN ACADEMY, 126 Boylston st.

WINES AND LIQUORS.

CLOVER BLOSSOM WHISKEY, 75c. full quart; PETER VOGEL CO., 362 Washington st., Dorchester.

AGENTS.

AGENTS, ladies and gentlemen, to take orders for and supply the greatest selling specialty on earth; a roller adjustable hair gaze; just out; 25c per package; large profits; 1 sample and full particulars by mail, 10c; 1 dozen, $1; 1 gross, $10; exclusive territory; 1 agent wanted in each city; send for list of 500 names. Dorchester, Mass.

AGENTS WANTED—Our large representatives with horses to handle the quickest seller on the market; $10 to $20 daily. Call 1048 Washington st.

CANVASSERS—Men and women, $3 to $5 daily; salary and commission. Boomer st., room 425 BROWNE & POTTER CO.

HELP WANTED—Male.

WANTED BY Houghton & Dutton

Elevator men, 30 to 40 years of age; permanent positions; good wages. Apply at Superintendent's office.

BACK BAY AUTO SCHOOL, 257 COLUMBUS AV., men wanted to be professional chauffeurs; big demand for chauffeurs; we place your name in the employment bulletin and help you secure a position. Phone, 815.

PAINTERS' UNION IS.

SPECIAL MEETING Tuesday, May 22, to consider Building Trades section.

REMINGTON typewriters and typewriter supplies; Massachusetts and other railroads; experience unnecessary; salary $100; become engineers and agents; $200 to $1,500. Position guaranteeing more men needed; steady; easier position secured. RAILWAY TYPEWRITER SCHOOL, 1048 Washington st., Boston.

BOSTON AMERICAN wants man of education and address to do solicitation; must be able to write strong business letters; good appearance and address; also wants boy; must be bright and quick. Call or write Circulation Manager, 1048 Washington st., Boston.

BAKER WANTED—A first-class cake and pastry baker; must be strong and steady. GEM, 31 CROSS st., Johnsbury, Vt.

BOSTON CONSERVATORY, 153 PIANO TUNING; day and eve.; send for catalogue. 837 Washington st.

CHEAP PAINTER wanted; will make it an object to right man; come with good recommendations. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

CLYMER BOSTON PLUMBING SCHOOL—An up-to-date school; practical instruction; positions secured; send for catalogue. 124 Haverhill st., Boston.

MAINSPRINGS 30c., not in waiting; warranted 2 years; send for price list. PERRY, 48 Main st., Chelsea.

MAN experienced in running a grinder in rubber factory. Apply to the BOSTON MFG. CO., 65 Brookside av., Jamaica Plain.

MEN—We have secured positions for most all our graduates; can do the same for you; tell us where you can learn driving and repairing automobiles; 4 weeks; easy to learn; 4 cars to practice on; before repairing practice; learn to drive; our Automobile Station is open every day; 10 cars to hire; $1 per hour. EASTERN AUTOMOBILE EXCHANGE, 42 Warren av., cor. corner Berkeley and Tremont sts., Boston.

MEN, boys, wanted everywhere; steady income on building, repairing and road work; largest and best equipped team in the country; we have vacancies to work on 3 dairy building; let us know you through your boss; don't delay; write to-day. or write. HUB AUTOMOBILE SCHOOL, 190 Berger st., Boston.

MEN WANTED—for automobile driving and repairing; experience unnecessary; send for stamp for catalogue. BOSTON AUTO SCHOOL, 243 Berkeley st., Boston. Tel. Back Bay 1,000.

Prof. R. L. B. Sanders, 48 Main st., Cambridge.

PIPERS wanted; also to learn plumbing, plastering, bricklaying; special offer for scholarship $50; positions secured; day and evening classes; send for catalogue. CURRY SCHOOL TRADE, 31 Hanover st., Cor. Prince, Boston. Tel. 1,000.

RELIABLE MAN wanted, with his own team, to work on farm; must be sober and industrious. Apply at 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WANTED—For the U. S. Marine Corps: Men between the ages of 21 and 35 years, who are citizens of the United States, desirous of entering the service. For full information apply to Sergeant in Charge, U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, 6 Custom House st., Boston.

WANTED—Boy to learn plumbing; also painting, bricklaying; special offer for scholarship $50; positions secured; day and evening classes; send for catalogue. CURRY SCHOOL TRADE, 31 Hanover st., Cor. Prince, Boston. Tel. 1,000.

RELIABLE MAN wanted, with his own team, to work on farm; must be sober and industrious. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WANTED—For the U. S. Marine Corps: Men between the ages of 21 and 35 years, who are citizens of the United States, desirous of entering the service. For full information apply to Sergeant in Charge, U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, 6 Custom House st., Boston.

WANTED—Young man for office work. Apply at 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WANTED—Young man for general work at home; must be a good coal maker; with best ref. Apply 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WANTED—Young man for general errands; must have wheel; signed. Don't fail to see our store. BLAKE'S, 1048 Washington st.

WANTED—Coach and body designer; permanent position. Address Superintendent, T 244, Boston American.

WANTED—A speller at the MILFORD IRON FOUNDRY, Milford, Mass.

WANTED—Two young men for office work. Apply at WAKEFIELD RUBBER CO., So. Boston, Mass.

YOUNG MEN WANTED AT ONCE to learn electricity; only a few weeks required; we help you get work; come now for positions. For further information call or address, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury. Tel. Roxbury 1,000. ENGINEERING AND CONSTRUCTION CO.

YOUNG MEN WANTED AT ONCE to learn electricity; only a few weeks required; we help you get work; come now for positions. For further information call or address, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury. Tel. Roxbury 1,000. ENGINEERING AND CONSTRUCTION CO.

SITUATIONS WANTED—Male.

A FIRST-CLASS CHEF would like engagement this season; can furnish the best of references. 272 Boylston st.

A GOOD reliable writer would like work on cart or other and delivery wagon; small town preferred; can drive horse. Address T 295, Boston American.

A PRACTICAL painter or painter and paperhanger would like work; sober, industrious and low pressure boiler. PAINTER, 963 Main, sta., Cambridge.

AMERICAN MAN and wife both cooks, capable of taking charge of hotel or restaurant; references. E. A. MANN, 41 Lagrange st., Boston.

BOY, 17, wishes position in grocery; used to the trade; wants situation, second or first; moderate wages; can furnish best of references. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

CHAUFFEUR, 25, sober and reliable; best of references; can take full charge. WALTER L. HOWARD, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

CHAUFFEUR, 28, strictly temperate, writing perfect, wishes position; best of city and out references. F. B. WOODMAN, 54 Warrenton st.

CHAUFFEUR, colored, wants situation on gentleman's private family; can take care of horses and home or should good references. Call or write 0. WILLIAMS, 1048 Washington st.

CHAUFFEUR would like position in private family; understands horses; best of references. H. MONTGOMERY, 1048 Washington st.

ENGINEER and electrician wants position; long experience; can furnish first-class references; can operate family machinery. Address ENGINEER, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

ELECTRICIAN, 10 years' experience, best of references, wishes position; will go anywhere; wages moderate. WILLIAM WALTER, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

ENGINEER, 26 years' license; wishes steady position; best of references. Address ENGINEER, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

HOISTING ENGINEER wants a job; best of references; willing to go out of town. ENGINEER, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

I AM A GOOD STRAIGHT COOK; can take charge of horses, carriages and garden; good driver. C. H. BUSH, 1048 Washington st.

LAWYER—American, good address, age 38, 10 years' practice, desires position with corporation, good, typewriting, town member; any location. H. MONTGOMERY, 1048 Washington st.

LAWYER, American, good address, age 38, 10 years' practice, desires position with corporation, good typewriting, town member; any location. H. MONTGOMERY, 1048 Washington st.

POSITION WANTED—All-around cook, good references; city or country. Address T 297, Boston American.

POSITION WANTED as coachman and furnish man; best of city references. Address T 293, Boston American.

POSITION WANTED by an all-around gardener and horse worker; willing to do any part of work; best of references. Address T 294, Boston American.

JEWELER, 22 West 28th st., New York city.

SITUATION WANTED—By a first-class printer on stitcher; good all-around man; can furnish best of references. Address T 298, Boston American.

WANTED—Position as janitor or any position where I can have my family with me; can furnish best of references. Address T 299, Boston American.

WANTED—Position by reliable man to use his team; can furnish best of references. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WANTED—Position as manager of hotel or restaurant; 15 years' experience; best of references. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WOULD LIKE a position as chief cook, city or country; good wages; best of city references. Address T 292, Boston American.

WOULD LIKE a position as chief cook, city or country; good wages; best of city references. Address T 292, Boston American.

YOUNG MAN, 21, wishes position in grocery; willing to work for moderate wages; best of references. Address T 296, Boston American.

DIAMONDS AND JEWELRY.

EASY TERMS.

DIAMONDS, watches, jewelry, $1 down, $1 per week; no security; no interest; no trust; you pay cash. ROLLEY CO., 233 Washington st.

$175 NEW 17 jewel adjusted Waltham watch for $75; $150 Elgin for $60; $100 Hampden for $50; other watches, A. G. GRIEVER, 122 Washington st.

CASH paid for old gold. Loan Co., tickets, high est prices. RUSSELL, 131 Tremont st., room 39.

DOGS, PETS, ETC.

DOGS AND CATS

TREATED or boarded at the new Commonwealth Hospital for Animals, 241 Cunningston st., 2d st. from Dorchester av., Dorchester; telephone Dorchester 1,000. Cats, dogs bought and sold. Tel. Commonwealth av. cars to Blandford st. Tel. 1,000 Back Bay. DR. ALFRED WORCESTER, Managing Director. FREE CLINIC DAILY for animals at 1 p. m. Sundays, 9 a. m.

A PET JAVA MONKEY

FOR SALE, with cage. Apply at the Copley, 18 Huntington av., city.

FINANCIAL.

IF YOU WANT to make money in shares or are seeking information regarding Nevada mining stocks, write me for my private letter; sent free upon request. PATRICK ELLIOTT & CAMP, bankers and brokers, Reno, Nevada.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN on furniture and pianos at low rates. HARVIN, 101 Tremont st.

IF YOU CONTEMPLATE buying you are not; I help you. Address Box 1,498, Boston.

REFRIGERATORS.

FOR SALE—Grocers, market, restaurant, fixtures, new or second-hand; 25 factory prices; cash or credit. WHITMAN & CO., 76 Arlington av., Boston.

WOMEN'S SPECIALTIES.

BARBE'S GARAGES, to carry, check re-tired, carriage rates, carriages repaired, painted, for sale, wheels for sale; horses bd., $4; 611, W. 2. BRILLY & CO., 85 Portland st.

HELP WANTED—Female.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS

FOR IMMEDIATE EMPLOYMENT

YOUNG LADIES, 18 to 25 years of age and good education, as students of telephone operating; moderate salary during one month of practice.

Good Position Assured

to graduates in learning. Apply between 9 and 4 daily. NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO., EMPLOYMENT BUREAU, 53 Milk st.

WANTED BY Houghton & Dutton

Experienced and capable saleswomen for Silk and Dress Goods Department; permanent positions. Apply at Superintendent's office.

THE HENRY SIEGEL CO.

Requires the services of 12 experienced saleswomen in the Shoe Department. Pure class positions and good salaries to competent persons. Apply before 10 a. m. at superintendent's office.

GIRLS WANTED.

14 TO 18 YEARS OF AGE to work on looms; pay $4 per week while learning; chance to advance; make good pay after learning the work. Apply to MR. HARRIS, Mgr., 491 and Second sts., Boston.

WANTED.

STITCHERS, good positions for first-class operators. TEMPLE MFG. CO., 110 Summer st.

A NEWSGIRL wishing a home and willing to do dress suitable for school and assist with housework will find a good home; call or write 2,942 Washington st., lower bell.

HOUSEKEEPING AND MILLINERY TAUGHT; POSITIONS GUARANTEED; no teach cost; tuition to begin at once; day and evening. Cutting and Making of all kinds of Waists, Skirts, Dresses, Coats and Children's Garments; also EVERYTHING IN MILLINERY; including Frames, Frills and Folds, Wire Work and Fringe Making using "REGULAR MATERIALS." INSTRUCTION IN DRESSMAKING SO CLASS TEACHING 3 hours from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. ALSO INSTRUCTION IN MILLINERY AND MORE RELIABLE DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY than any other school in Boston. Call or send for circular before deciding. THE LADIES' TAILOR DRESSMAKING AND MILLINERY COLLEGE, 241 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

EXPERIENCED muslin bed-spreaders and cloth bed-spreaders. Apply to PERRY, 48 Main st., Chelsea.

GIRL, for general housework, small family; good home; small wages. Apply 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

LADIES' and gents' to learn; easy terms for only, dept.; good pay; spare time; stylish; easy work; no canvassing; no selling. BLAKELEIGH CO., Sanbornville, N. H.

PIECE WORK—Ladies can do same; cut, style, and finish, call or write JEANETTE, 700 Washington st.

TAILORESS wanted at once on skirts and coats. Apply at once, steady employment. Apply A. GOLD, 1075 Tremont st., Roxbury.

WANTED—Capable girl for general housework; good wages, small family; references. Apply 48 Main st., Chelsea. PERRY.

WANTED—A first-class dressmaker. Apply at 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WANTED—A man or woman to sell eggs. Apply at 98 Shawmut av.

SITUATIONS WANTED—Female.

A MIDDLE AGED lady would like position as companion to lady or gentleman; is a good reader; would care for convalescent; experienced. G. 229, Boston American.

A NEAT AM. sewing housekeeper wants sewing by the day; terms reasonable. Call or address 301 Richmond st.

A YOUNG LADY would like position as general nurse or would care for an invalid. B. M., 1048 Washington st.

AN EXPERIENCED WOMAN would like position as housekeeper in a small family; is a good cook and chamber work. Pros., good references. F. L. D., 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

AMERICAN WIDOW, 42, wants position as housekeeper in widower's family; no objections; family; good references. A. M. COREY, 31 Warren st.

COLORED girl would like work of any kind in the city; is a good worker. 1048 Washington st.

COLORED GIRL would like place; come home nights. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

EXPERIENCED LADY PRESS desires work to do at home; can furnish machine; will call for goods. C. B., 37 Rutland sq., city.

FRENCH LADY, 25, wishes position; trustworthy middle-aged Protestant woman as housekeeper in a widower's family; best of ref. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

SITUATION wanted as housekeeper where there are small children. R. 238 Shawmut av.

WANTED—Position as nurse by a girl; go anywhere. MISS. BUTLER, 1064 Harrison av., Roxbury.

WANTED—Chamber work, as an experienced American girl; can furnish best of references. MISS C. DU SHAULT, 48 Main st., Chelsea.

WANTED—Place to take reading and reminding home or go out sewing in the home with or call. MISS. M. MORGAN, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

YOUNG LADY wishes position as housekeeper; no objections to children; good references. MISS CARRIE ANDERSON, care, Bell., Quincy.

YOUNG WOMAN wants work for the summer at Nantasket; best of references. Call or write WENTZEL 12 Heath st., Roxbury.

YOUNG WOMAN wishes position in office; general work; some knowledge of typewriting or cashier. T 246, Boston American.

Barter and Exchange

ONE CENT A WORD.

DOUBLE HORSE SLED for sale or exchange for single horse sled.

EXCHANGE installation for a phonograph or 2 violins; lessons; works. Apply 9 Zeno, TABLE SON, 6 Norwalpa terrace, Waltham, Mass.

FOR EXCHANGE—Will exchange for good real estate books at $2.25, good for $2.50; 10 volumes, $3.50, good for $5. Address T 1,000, TRUTH REDEMPTION CO., 109 Boylston st., room 316.

HAVE you any trading stamps or tokens you wish to exchange for cash? Call at 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

I HAVE one of the most beautiful Summer homes in Hyde Park to exchange for a good piano; the Summer resort is situated on Boston properties; has gas, city water, etc.; price $16,000. WM. E. FOSTER CO., 101 Washington st., Boston.

PIANO—Reconstructed Mozart 3 high, 4 wide; inside 199 lbs. low; never lost pass; cost $224; exchange for good piano; will pay cash. Call 248 Boston American.

WHAT HAVE YOU? Will sell or exchange; one second-hand quartered oak side board (unbalanced); weight about 350 lbs.; speak quick if you want it. CHARLES, 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WILL SELL or exchange Birmingham rifles in stores and shops; also Remington rifles; guaranteed; parts replaced; also elementos muffled tumbler locks. 1048 Washington st., Roxbury.

WILL EXCHANGE a set of telegraph instruments for a good typewriter. Call 1048 Washington st., Dorchester.

WILL EXCHANGE—Leather bed for bed clothing. T 297, Boston American.

WILL EXCHANGE—Gas of 600, for building materials. T 298, Boston American.

LEGAL AND PUBLIC NOTICES.

TO THE BUILDING COMMISSIONER, City of Boston: Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will apply for a permit to erect and use a gas engine at 325 Market st., Brighton.

It is hereby ordered that the 22d day of May, 1906, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, be and hereby is given for the Petitioner to all parties interested to appear at a Probate Court, then to be held at Dedham in said county, and show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. By the Court. WILLIAM H. DUNBAR, 24 Building Commissioner.

Auction sale of household and personal effects at 10 A. M. TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY, May 22, 23, 24, 25

EDITORIAL PAGE OF HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN TUESDAY, MAY 22

Only by a PUBLIC Investigation of the WHOLE Legislature Can the Legislature Regain Public Confidence

In secret, behind closed doors, a committee of the Massachusetts House of Representatives is investigating charges that the Legislature has been involved in bribery scandals. A large majority of the public and press, aware of the usual result of star chamber investigations, is expressing very freely its lack of confidence in either the method of the investigation, the investigation itself or its results.

While this investigation is going on, the Senate is taking no part. Its members, cheered on by the glad and greasy hands of the lobbyists, are pursuing their usual serene way. Matters of legislation before it are being disposd of as usual. Not a single Senator has yet given any evidence that he realizes that his body is under just as severe suspicion as the lower house by suggesting that an investigation should be held.

It has been common report that the Senate is certainly not behind the House of Representatives in its genuflexions before the powers of corporate wealth and greed. It has been commonly said that many measures have been allowed to pass the House of Representatives, only to be killed in the Senate, because there are less men in the upper branch to be influenced, and consequently a smaller expenditure is necessary.

It is in the Senate that professional lobbyists have sat throughout the session, inside the members' rail, calling Senators to them for whispered conferences as exigency required. It is in the Senate that the worst scandal of the session has occurred, the defeat of the "overtime" bill, when four Senators were absent at a crucial moment, and it was proved that one of them connived at a fake telegram to attempt to explain his vote-dodging.

Leaders of the Massachusetts Legislature are asking, through their friends and apologists, and such a proportion of the public press as they control, what will satisfy the public of the Commonwealth that an honest, fearless, REAL investigation is to be conducted. Their question is easily answered.

The investigation should be by a committee composed of members ALL of whom are above reproach. That committee should be a JOINT committee, and the WHOLE Legislature—Senate as well as House—should be investigated. And the investigation should be IN THE OPEN.

Until the Massachusetts Legislature has its investigation conducted in this manner it cannot expect public confidence—AND IT HAS NO RIGHT TO EXPECT IT.

The Terranova Case and What It Means

The Interest in Such Cases Is Not Morbid—IT IS A SIGN OF PROTEST AGAINST BRUTALITY

An Italian girl, seventeen years old, is on trial for her life. The greatest interest is aroused in the effort of the public prosecutor to bring this girl to the electric chair.

The story of her crime—and of the infinitely worse crimes from which she suffered—need not be discussed in detail.

It is enough to say that this girl, in her childhood, endured atrocities a thousand times worse than death. She died, morally and spiritually, a hundred times while she was defenceless. When she was seventeen—and when the brutality of her husband, added to that of her guardians, opened her eyes—she killed her uncle and the aunt guilty of dreadful crimes against her.

It is interesting to note that while the paid representatives of the people are trying to convict this girl of murder, the people themselves are intent IN THE HOPE AND BELIEF THAT THE GIRL WILL NOT BE CONVICTED.

The lawyer defending the girl will doubtless say to the jury:

"This girl, as we have proved, has died a hundred deaths. If you decide that she must die again, this time in the electric chair, with the people of the State CARRYING ON THE WORK OF HER UNCLE AND OF HER AUNT TO ITS LEGITIMATE CONCLUSION, that is for you jurymen to decide."

A brief statement of this kind, followed upon the cold recitation of the horrible truth, must have a result not at all doubtful.

The most important thing about this murder trial and similar trials is not the individual criminal or the individual crime. It is the proof of the gradual awakening of kindness and justice among human beings. There was a time when the hanging of a woman was a period of rejoicing in England. And there was a time in Paris when the sight of a miserable wretch being broken upon the wheel crowded the streets and the windows and the housetops with delighted spectators.

Once upon a time human beings as a class DELIGHTED IN VENGEANCE AND IN SUFFERING.

The lenient judge was hated, and while the public executioner was despised for his calling, he was a hero in his way, and his victims were taunted or maltreated as they went to their fate.

Human nature in that respect has changed. Wherever the judge or the jury has an option in the matter, they are loath to inflict death.

When any human being is on trial, except in the most atrocious cases, it is evident that the interest of the crowd is based on fear for the life that hangs in the balance.

This interest is called morbid; and it may be morbid in some cases.

There is no doubt that human beings are better when their interest in a murder trial, when their crowding and their discussing are based no longer upon a desire to see a human being tortured, and upon the hope that innocence will be proven and the old love of revenge and torture cheated of one victim.

Gas Trust Caught Cheating Again

To the Editor of the AMERICAN:

The report of the Gas Commissioners giving the House of Representatives certain information asked for in reference to the adoption of the sliding scale discloses an item of utmost importance, namely, that the sale of 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas for $95,000 made last June was entered in the cash receipts of this fiscal year, which began July 1. That amount is roughly half of the normal sales during June.

In other words, from June 15, when the companies were consolidated, to July 1, or for half a month, the receipts were credited to the year.

The company has declared dividends this year of 8 per cent. That was one of the material arguments to carry the sliding scale bill in the House.

This $95,000 of last year's money equals 600$ per cent. on the capital of the company or roughly two-thirds of 1 per cent. and if it helped to make the standard dividend two-thirds of 1 per cent. higher than it would otherwise have been made, it means $95,000 extra paid each year for ten years by the gas consumers to the stockholders, or in all $950,000.

This extra $95,000 a year, when capitalized at about 5 per cent., means an extra "stock market" value to the Massachusetts Gas Company's stock of $2,000,000, which about represents the rise of the stock in the stock market the day the sliding scale bill passed the House.

This bookkeeping may be all innocent enough, but it would have been fairer that the public should not have been deceived or left in ignorance until this report of the Gas Commissioners disclosed it.

As an example of how the company, or the backers behind the company, have tried once before to mislead the public, it is sufficient to recall to mind the disgraceful episode of last April (1905), when Harvey White in the Boston Elevated affair was used by the respectable "McCalls and McCurdys" as their "Judge" Andy Hamilton, to secure the insertion, by paying full front page rates, of that notorious "Fake" news dispatch in behalf of the sliding scale. Is history repeating itself? Yours very truly,

ROBERT TREAT PAINE, JR.

May 21, 1906.

Sparks of Thought

By Rev. Charles A. Crane

(Pastor People's Temple)

"Face value" is very uncertain until wrinkles come to mark the face with the pinch of time.

* * *

"The Holy Rester" are a greater calamity to the church than the "Holy Jumpers." "From such, good Lord, deliver us. Amen."

* * *

The husband who smiles when dinner is late is better than a block of Standard Oil stock.

* * *

One discord can ruin the harmony of a hundred singers. One "growler" can kill the peace of any church or family.

* * *

The couple whose "honeymoon" runs are on into the "harvest moon" will know how to mingle the tender blossoms of hope with the glory of ripening fruit.

* * *

A new sign was seen in Boston lately in which the truth was better than the rhetoric. 'Twas this: "Keep sweet or keep still." This sign was very appropriately in a church.

* * *

A certain saint was singing

"I'd rather be the least of them
Who are the Lord's alone
Than wear a royal diadem
Or sit upon a throne."

And he was thoroughly upset by a brother saint, who remarked: "You

TROUBLES OF THE LOVER BUG

COME RIGHT IN!
HOW-DO-DO MISS ARABELLA
GREAT SCOTT A RIVAL-!!
WHAT NICE WEATHER WE'RE HAVING—
YES—HOW ABOUT A WALK?
SURE!
I'LL GIVE YOU FIVE PUMPKIN SEEDS TO GO IN AND KICK THAT LOBSTER OUT-!!
OUCH!!
GEE- IT'S A SHAME-!
AWFULLY ANNOYING YOU KNOW—
WAIT TILL I CATCH YOU YOU DIDN'T TELL ME IT WAS A WASP-!!
STUNG-!!
PAUL BRANSOM

WHICH PROVES THAT THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE IS THE SAME IN ALL CIRCLES

BRAGGO THE MONK

NOW WHEN WE GET TO THE TRACK YOU JUST FOLLOW MY ADVICE—I KNOW I'M AN OLD HAND AT THE GAME
TO THE TRACK
PUT EVERT CENT YOU'VE GOT ON "KIDNEY STEW!" I KNOW A WINNER WHEN I SEE ONE!
TO BOOK
WHY HELLO, BRAGGO! WHAT'S GOOD?
DON'T BE DISCOURAGED! YOU'LL GET IT BACK AND A MILLION BESIDES IF YOU FOLLOW MY TIPS!
COME ALONG WINS
NOT FOR MINE!—I'M BROKE!
"DUBSTER" IS THE ONLY HORSE IN THIS RACE!—THE BOOKIES THINK HE'S A SKATE—BUT—I KNOW BETTER!
HELLO BRAGGO! WHERE'S THE TIP YOU PROMISED ME?
TUT! TUT! THE JOCKEY THREW THE RACE!—BET ON TOMMYROT IN THE NEXT AND YOU'LL BE ALL TO THE GOOD!
"HURRYUP" WINS!
NOT ON YOUR LIFE!
SURE! PUT IT ALL ON TOMMYROT AND WEAR DIAMONDS! DID YOU EVER SEE ME PICK A LOSER—NEVER!
YOU BRAGGART, YOU'VE MADE ME LOSE MY RENT MONEY!
THOSE JUDGES DON'T KNOW THEIR BUSINESS!
"GIDDAP" TOMMYROT WINS! DROPS DEAD!
TAKE THAT, AND NEVER MENTION RACES TO ME AGAIN!

HE TELLS HIS FRIENDS HOW TO BET ON THE RACES

The Paean of Peace

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1902, by American-Journal-Examiner.

WITH ever some wrong to be righting,
With self ever seeking for place,
The world has been striving and fighting
Since man has evolved out of space.
Bold history into dark regions,
His torchlight has fearlessly cast;
He shows us tribes warring in legions,
In jungles of ages long passed.

Religion, forgetting her station,
Forgetting her birthright from God,
Set nation to warring with nation,
And scattered dissension abroad.
Dear creeds have made me kill each other,
Fair faith has bred hate and despair,
And brother has battled with brother
Because of a difference in prayer.

But earth has grown wiser and kinder.
For man is evolving a soul;
From war of an age that was blinder
We rise to a peace-girdled goal.
Where once men would murder in treason,
And slaughter each other in hordes,
They now meet together and reason,
With thoughts for the weapons, not swords.

The brute in humanity dwindles,
And lessons as time speeds along;
And the spark of divinity kindles
And blazes up brightly and strong.
The seer can behold in the distance
The race that shall people the world—
Strong men of a godly existence,
Unarmed, and with war banners furled.

No longer the bloodthirsty savage
Man's vast spirit strength shall unfold,
And tales of red warfare and ravage
Shall seem like ghost stories of old.
For the booming of guns and the rattle
Of carnage and conflict shall cease,
And the bugle call, leading to battle,
Shall change to a paean of peace.

Little Editorials from the People

TRUSTED ONES SHOULD TRUST

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

As expected, there is nothing surprising in the method of "secret investigation" now going on by our esteemed legislators on the hill. The wonder is that any hope was felt at all. Why continue it in secret?

There has, for the most part, been a willingness on the part of the citizens of this Commonwealth in choosing to their best judgment honest and capable representatives, in whom at least some degree of trust could be placed. Why cannot we in turn now be trusted to know some of the "honest" doings of the trusted ones?

ELIAS D. JACKSON.

Kneeland street, Boston.

THE DURLAND CO.,

3-17 West 60th Street,
New York, May 7, 1906.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir—I bought one of your volumes of "Editorials From the Hearst Newspapers," and to say that I am pleased to add it to my collection would be putting it lightly. I have been saving the editorial page from the Journal for years, and through an error last week they were destroyed, much to my dismay.

Keep up your good work. You have a large family watching you for your splendidly thought-out articles. Many follow up and agree with you who do not write.

Yours truly, W. EARL GRIFFITH.